Dear KEEN descendants,

When my brother Don and I embarked on our first genealogy trip in 1989, I never dreamed that we would find so much information regarding the Keen family. After that trip -- in which much information was learned -- our trips to Virginia, Massachusetts, Maine, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, Ontario and then Toronto in Canada, revealed much more than we expected. We then went back to Las Vegas where Don is living at this time.

There were many revelations to us. Our mother's name, birthdate, and birthplace, was different. Our father's name and birthdate was different. A brother was named Junior, but did not have the same name as our father, another brother's name was different, a sister's birthdate was wrong on her birth certificate, and other anomalies were found. When we returned home, we put together what information we had and it was plenty. However, I caught the genealogy bug and have since gone back to Massachusetts, Maine and environs many times for further information.

This book contains most of the information learned, however, much else has been learned but it is too lengthy to put in this book. I found articles about the early Keens in New England and Maine in several publications. I have copied them for my personal genealogy library. When you read through this, you will find that you had at least two g-grandfathers that participated in the American Revolution and you will see that you are descended from a MAYFLOWER passenger, Richard Warren and that you can join the Sons (or) Daughters of the American Revolution and the Society of Mayflower Descendants. Just think about it. Your ancestors were in on the founding of this country! I was thrilled. I realize all of you won't feel my zeal for this lineage investigation, however, maybe your descendants will be interested. I am sending all my children, siblings, nieces and nephews and a few cousins a copy of this book. Please handle it with care. I put a lot of work into the gathering of this information. I left blank pages following each current generation for you to put in your own notes, birth, marriage, or death certificates.

I hired a certified genealogist in England, attempting to learn more about the Keen(e) family before they came to America. What was learned is in this book. I have actual copies of wills, diaries, birth and death certificates, etc. My thanks to my Aunt Violet Augustus who gave me all the photos and information about Edward Seth Keen (her father). I will miss her. Read it carefully and enjoy it as I do. Copies of this book will be sent to the libraries and to the genealogy organizations that I checked with and other sources. Our family is now historically listed in many places.

KEEN KEENE KEAN KEANE KANE KEENER
KENE KEIN CANE CAIN KAIN

All of the above spellings of the name Keen were found in various records, documents, and other writings during my search of our genealogical roots. A DICTIONARY OF BRITISH SURNAMES by P.H. Rainey states; "These names may be of Celtic, English or Norman origin. The forms Cain, Cane or Kain or Kayne are not derived from the Biblical character Cain, whose reputation was too unsavory to inspire surnames, but are local in origin from the French city of Caen, in northwestern France, near the English Channel. The Gaelic ceann meant a 'a chieftain, leader'; kean also denoted a bard or a singer. The Old English cēne (pronounced 'keen') signified 'knowing, bold.' Keener may be occupational, from the ancient Irish keener, the professional mourner at funerals, who 'keened' the virtues of the deceased. Kane and Kayne are sometimes from the Norman-French quene and quesne ('an oak')."

In "THESE NAMES OF OURS" by Dellaquest on p. 181, is the following, " Keen, Keene, Keens, Keenes: Ricardus filius Kene 1188 P (D); Alexander filius Kene 1202 AssL; Adam, Hugo Kene 1207 Cur (Sf), 1221 AssWo; Richard le Kene 1297 MinAccCo (O). Kene is a short form of OE names in Cēn- or Cyne –, such as survive in Kenward, Kenway, Kerrick, etc. le Kene is OE cēne, ME kene 'wise, brave, proud'."

The words used to describe personal bravery are mostly so old that they have changed their meaning since they were first used as commendation for fighting men. Stark meant hard and inflexible, and Stern much the same. Snell was brave in a quick, dashing style. Sharp and Keen both referred at first to the sharp weapon, but were soon applied also to the man who wielded it. Smart meant fierce in the sense of inflicting pain. As with the last two words the meaning was associated with the weapon ('an arrow keen and smarte') as well as the man responsible for it ('the Sarazin was keene and smarte'), but there was also a noun 'smart' referring to the pain so caused. As times became less savage the fierce quality of these three words was moderated to mean only courageous, or mentally keen, sharp and smart, and in the case of the last the modern American usage expresses this development much better than the modern English which has become mixed up, most unfairly, with clothes and fashion. But when our forbears first acquired these same words as names they were still close in thought to the sharp edges and smarting wounds.

Very little information on Martha, unknown where she died or where buried or maiden name

Planters of the Commonwealth (by Charles Edward Banks) states "PASSENGERS and SHIPS P. 197" and the following "Confidence of London, two hundred tons, John Gibson*, Master. She sailed from Southhampton the last of April, by vertue of the Lord Treasurers warrant of the 11th of April, 1638."
There are many passengers listed in no particular order -- some including occupation and home area and sometimes relationship to each other. Our particular lineage lists Martha Keene 60, Elizabeth Keene 13, Martha Keene, Josias Keene, John Keene 17, and Sarah Keene.*

There is no evidence that John Keen(e) was aboard that ship. The ship docked in Boston and accounts state that they "settled in Hengham (Hingham) and late to Duxbury." John Keen(e) is mentioned as a mariner and sometime innkeeper. I have checked all known avenues of information in Hingham, including their microfilmed documents in the library and I was unable to find any mention of any of the Keen(e) family as ever having lived in Hingham. There is ample evidence that they lived in Duxbury, Marshfield and Pembroke, all bordering Hingham.

The particulars on the children of John Keen and Martha. According to Hezekiah Keen's family account, all were born on London Bridge.

The above information was the only mention of KEEN found in Hingham history books. Since we are looking for a Keen in Hingham about 1638 or later until about 1655 when JOSIAH KEEN jr (the first of our lineage born in America) it is apparent that John Keen nor his children took up permanent residence in Hingham, but early on moved to Duxbury, Marshfield and Pembroke and established themselves.

JOHN KEEN – INNKEEPER AND YEOMAN

Several publications listed John Keen as an innkeeper and yeoman. Nothing has been found to substantiate that statement. It is very possible he was an innkeeper/yeoman in England before coming the America.

In the below dictionary definition, a yeoman could have been a landowner who worked his own land. This is probably closest to what John Keen was and his innkeeping may have been a sideline or his past occupation in England. If the children were all born on London Bridge, which at that time was a teeming trade center, it is unlikely that he held land at that time in England.

P. 1141 — HISTORY OF MARSHFIELD

Up to this time Green's Harbor was simply a parish, some of its occupants of lands having houses and homes there, and others owning and cultivating farms or herding their cattle, while they retained their dwellings in Plymouth or Duxbury. About six thousand acres of land, including the two miles, or more than one-third of the present territory of Marshfield, had been granted to individual proprietors. In addition to the above, at various times before 1640, tracts of land varying in extent from fifteen to eighty acres were granted to Joseph Beadle, John Rouse, James Lindall, John Ford, Arthur Howland, William Sherman, John Phillips, Roger Chandler, Samuel Tompkins, Edmund Weston, Ralph Chapman, John Gardner, John Hardmer, Edmund Hawes, John Winslow, Stephen Tracy, George Partridge, Henry Sampson, Experience Mitchell, John Paybody, Abraham Peirce, and William Tubbs. These extracts from the records show clearly enough who were the settlers and occupants of land in Marshfield before its incorporation. In later days, after the incorporation, John Adams, James Adams, Robert Waterman, Anthony Snow, John Branch, Christopher Winter, John Hewett, John Gorham, James Pitney, John Dingley, John Somers, Samuel Baker, Timothy Williamson, John Foster, John Walker, John Low, Thomas Chillingworth, Samuel Sprague, Edward Stevens, Thomas Doggett, Josiah Keen, William Shurtleff, Thomas Little, and John Jones either bought or obtained grants of lands, and may perhaps properly be called second comers.

On the 2d of March, 1640/1, it was enacted by the court "that Green's Harbor shall be a Towneship and have all the priveledges of a Towneship that other Townes have, and that it shall be called by the name of Rexhame but now Marshfield." The termination "hame" meant simply "town," and Rexhame or Rexham was another name for Kingstown. The Indian name for the territory was Missaquatucket.

Moswetuset Hummock

'Birthplace Of Massachusetts'

The Indians saw it as a hill (wetuset) shaped like an arrowhead (mos) so they called it "Moswetuset" and when English tongues got through mangling the word it came out "Massachusetts," which became the name of the bay and then the state.

The little wooded hillock near the junction of East Squantum St. and Quincy Shore Drive was once the seat of the sachem Chickatabot, who comes down through the pages of Quincy history as a rather pathetic figure.

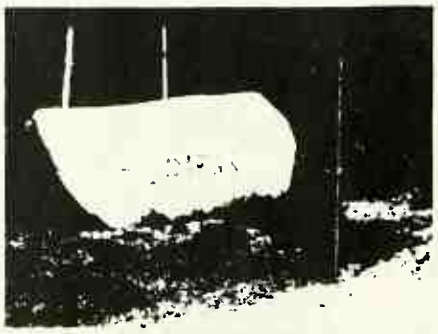
He was the chief of the Moswetuset Indians, a once great tribe that occupied the coast north of Plymouth.

A few years before, under the great sachem Nanepashemet, the Moswetuset had been able to field some 3,000 warriors for a war with the Nanepashemet was killed.

Then came the plague.

In two years the mighty Moswetuset were all but wiped out. No more than 60 of them were left to till their fields on the banks of the Neponset River. Sachem Chickatabot fled his home on the hill in Wollaston and took refuge on Moswetuset Hummock.

That was the situation in 1621 when Capt. Myles Standish landed from a shallop with an exploring party of Plymouth Pilgrims that included the Indian guide Squanto (or Tsquantum), whose name was given to the peninsula that stuck out in the bay.



MOSWETUSET HUMMOCK

The tragic Chickatabot died not long after the Pilgrims' visit and he was succeeded as sachem by his son, Josiah Wampatuck, a boy who knew a good deal when he saw one.

Wampatuck sold what was left of his virtually deserted tribal lands to a group of whites for 12 pounds, 10 shillings. The lands included most of what is today the city of Quincy and the towns of Braintree, Randolph and Holbrook.

Moswetuset Hummock, identified by a marker stone and maintained in its natural state, is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

There were a few specific homosexual cases at Plymouth, and some suspicions of a few others. We should be careful not to read too much into the records, which could be quite specific when the facts were available to justify fine details, but could be rather vague when the facts themselves seemed flimsy. On 6 March 1648/49 the wife of Hugh Norman and Mary Hammon of Yarmouth were presented by the Grand Jury for "leude behavior with each other upon a bed." Mary Hammon was later cleared with an admonition. On 2 October 1650 (apparently the delay was at her own request "by reason of som hinderances"), Hugh Norman's wife was tried for lewd behavior with Mary Hammon on a bed "with divers lasivious speeches by her allso spoken," and she was ordered to make a public acknowledgment of her "unchast behavior" and to take heed "lest her former cariage come in remembrance against her to make her punishment the greater" in any future offense. There had been earlier charges made by Richard Berry, who accused Teague Jones of committing sodomy and other unclean practices with Sarah, the wife of Hugh Norman; however, on 6 March 1649/50 Richard Berry acknowleged before the General Court that he had given false witness under oath, and he was sentenced to be whipped at the post. [23]

Somewhat more specific, though a bit confusing also, is the case of Lydia Hatch, Jonathan Hatch, Edward Mitchell, Edward Preston, and John Keene. On 1 March 1641/42 Lydia Hatch was sentenced to be whipped for "suffering Edward Mitchell to attempt to abuse her body by uncleanesse," and for not reporting it, and also for lying in the same bed with her brother Jonathan. Edward Mitchell was sentenced to be whipped at both Plymouth and Barnstable for "his lude and sodomiticall practices tending to sodomye wth Edward Preston, and other lude carryages wth Lydia Hatch." Edward Preston was sentenced to be whipped at Plymouth and Barnstable at the same time as Mitchell for his lewd practices tending to sodomy with Edward Mitchell, and for "pressing John Keene thereunto (if he would have yeilded)." John Keene "because he resisted the temptacon, & used meanes to discover it, is appoynted to stand by whilst Mitchell and Preston are whipt, though in some thing he was faulty." Jonathan Hatch "was taken as a vagrant, & for his misdemeanors was censured to be whipt, & sent from constable to constable to Leiftennant Davenport at Salem." A few days later it was determined that Jonathan Hatch would dwell with Mr. Stephen Hopkins, with Hopkins to have a special care of him. [24]

PILGRIM NOTES AND QUERIES

NOTES

KEEN-LITTLE. The attention of the Editor was recently called by Mr. Thomas Gurney to entries made between 1763 and 1770, by Hezekiah Keen of Duxbury, in an account book now in the possession of his descendant, Mr. Abdon W. Keene. These entries prove that the first Josiah Keen of Marshfield married Abigail Little and had by her a son Josiah (father of Hezekiah) and a daughter who died young. Abigail Little also died and Josiah then married Hannah Dingly of Marshfield, Hannah being his second wife, not his only wife as seems to have been claimed hitherto.

An even more interesting feature of the case, from the standpoint of Pilgrim genealogy, is the possibility that we have in Abigail Little a hitherto unknown daughter of Thomas and Ann (Warren) Little. She was certainly too old to be his granddaughter, but may have been a niece, or a more distant relative.

In our next issue we shall print all of the entries in this interesting old document, with notes in regard to Abigail Little.

P. 318 Author: EUGENE AUBREY STRATTON

LITTLE, THOMAS—Thomas Little first appears in Plymouth records on the 1633 tax list. On 19 April 1633 he married Ann Warren, daughter of Mayflower passenger Richard Warren and his wife Elizabeth (PCR 1:13). On 7 October 1633 Little sold his dwelling house to Richard Higgins for twenty-one bushels of corn (PCR 1:16). On 28 May 1635 he made a gift of land to his brother-in-law Robert Bartlett (PCR 1:34). On 12 March 1638/39 William Taylor (son of William Taylor of Boddington, County Cornwall, carpenter) transferred his indenture with the consent of all from Mr. John Atwood to Thomas Little (PCR 1:119). Little moved to Marshfield, where he became constable on 3 June 1662 (PCR 4:15). He bought farm land in Marshfield which had belonged to Maj. William Holmes, deceased, and on 3 June 1662 the court ordered that in view of his many improvements of the land, if anyone should show better title in the future, such person would have to pay him fully for his improvements (PCR 4:16). On 9 June 1665 he was fined £1/10 for not keeping secret the proceedings of the grand jury, of which he was a member (PCR 4:101). When he refused to pay rents claimed by Mrs. Rachel Davenport for the land of the late William Holmes, the court on 1 May 1666 awarded her £15, which, because of his improvements, was less than she had claimed (PCR 4:119). On 14 August 1672 administration of the estate of Thomas Little of Marshfield was given to his widow, Anna Little (PCR 5:101). His will dated 12 May 1671, inventory 4 April 1672, mentioned his wife; his sons Isaac, Ephraim, Thomas, and Samuel; his grandson John Jones; and his servant Sarah Bonney (MD 4:161). His son Thomas died in King Philip's War at Rehoboth, and in his will (MD 4:164) we learn that his father Thomas also had daughters Ruth, Hannah, Patience, and Mercy. The younger Thomas died without having married. The senior Thomas Little also had a daughter Abigail, who married Josiah Keene and predeceased her father (MD 8:191-92, 10 128, 28:5-6).

THE ENGLISH CONNECTION GENEALOGY SEARCH FOR JOHN KEEN AND MARTHA OF LONDON, ENGLAND

by ROBERT R. KEEN of Dayton, Ohio

AUGUST 1994

I originally wrote to Association of Genealogists and Record Agents (AGRA), a Mrs. Jean Tooke B.Com, 1 Woodside Close, Catersham, Surrey, CR3 6AU, England, who wrote back advising that she was giving my search to Dr. Stephen Taylor, a member of AGRA, 50, Westmead Road, Barton under Needwood, Staffordshire, DE138JR, England - phone: (0283) 716587.

I had sent a copy of Hezekiah Keen's account which made the connection in his writings to John and Martha coming from London and their children being born on "London Bridge" and that Josias (Josiah) of my lineage was one of the passengers of the ship "Confidence" that came to "New England" in 1638. Hezekiah also mentioned that two sons were left in England. No explanation. The passenger's list of the ship Confidence was found in print, "Passengers to America" by Tepper, p.126 listing, Martha Keene 60, Elizabeth Keene 13, Martha Keene, Josias Keene, John Keen 17, and Sarah Keene in 1638 as passengers. No mention of the senior John Keen(e). Another account (Savage Genealogical Dictionary, V-3), lists John Keen as coming from England and that he was a mariner and innkeeper and settled in Hingham, Massachustetts. I later found another reference to a Keen(e) named Matthew coming over on the ship Confidence and destination being Hingham, Massachusetts, and being from the parish Checkenden (re: Aspinwall 249 and Banks Topographical Dictionary of 2885 English Immigrants to New England 1620-1650 by Charles Edward Banks).

Matthew could possibly be one of the sons left behind or at least a close relative since he was also going to Hingham, Massachusetts. No reference to a John Keen(e) could be found in the 1600's in Hingham or any year. I can only presume family lore passed by word of mouth from generation to generation until Hezekiah wrote it down in the 1700's in his account. And yet, someone apparently wrote in something, a bible or diary or personal account that John Keen died on November 14, 1649 and is buried in Duxbury, Massachusetts. No formal record of his death could be found and the old cemetery has no stone or record of him being buried there. In regard to Martha (no maiden name known), John's wife, the same account has her dying in 1638 and at age 60, the same year she arrived in New England. Did she die on the ship? Was John already in New England? We may never know.

The genealogist, Dr. Taylor, after reading of the information I supplied speculated that the Keen(e) family may have come from Oxfordshire or Southwark. Southwark is on the other side of the London Bridge. His investigation turned up the following:

PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE, CHANCERY LANE, LONDON
PREROGATIVE COURT OF CANTERBURY - The Keene wills, listed in my last report have now been searched of any details that could link the testator to the family of John and Martha Keen. Only the will of Thomas Keane, proved in 1632, offerred a possible link with your family.
1632 Keane Thomas of St. Olave's Southwark, Surrey.
PROB11/161: ff. 165 RII - 166 RII 3pp.
Thomas Keene of St. Olave's Southwark, Surrey, baker Made: 3rd February 1631 [/2] dwelling in Maze Lane Southwark
Names: Ref: lease of Sir Anthony Thomas, knight - John Plumbly (son in law) - Sara Plumbly wife of John (daughter) - John Keene under 21 (son) - Sara (now wife, possibly pregnant) executrix - David Keene (son) [ref: to his mother's ring - a previous wife, therefore] John Keene (brother) John Keene "my brother's son that is nowe with me" - Alice (sister) - Mr. Timothy Harte (father in law) - John Merrick (cosyn) - Witnesses: Thomas Sampson, Thomas Lammas X
Codicil: Made: 5th February 1631 [/2]

Dr. Taylor speculates: "I am wondering whether the brother John is our John Keene. We know that he had a son John. In the above will, Thomas Keene, the testator has his nephew living with him in Southwark at the time of the making of his will, although both brother and nephew are cut out of the will by the codicil made two days later! A link between Southwark and London Bridge makes this equally worthy of further consideration. Also, for what it is worth, both Thomas Keene and your John had daughters by the name of Sarah, but I must emphasise that this was a very common name for girls at that date. If this is our John Keen, then we know he was alive in 1631/32. His absence from the passenger list of 1638 could be for a number of reasons. A full typescript of this will can be produced should it prove directly relevant". (A copy of the will hand-written in Old English and extremely difficult to read was received from Dr. Taylor).

"The other listed wills produced the following references: 1632 Keene Robert deceased abroad: PROB11/162: f. 188 RH, 1p. - 1639 Keene Henry of St. Olave Southwark, Surrey: PROB11/179: f. 264 RH, 1p. - 1644 Keene Robert of Middlesex proved at Oxford in April - This item has not been located, as it has no reference number in the calendar. It may be particularly useful, especially if my hunch about Oxfordshire is correct. - 1650 Keene Robert of London: PROB11/211: ff. 313 RH - 314 LH, 2pp. - 1655 Keene John of St. Clement Danes, Middlesex: PROB11/247: f. 201 LH & RH 2pp. - 1658 Keene Thomas of [the Liberty of the Tower] London: PROB11/277: ff. 293 LH & RH, 2 pp. - 1661 Keene Elizabeth of St. Margaret Westminster, Middlesex: PROB11/303 ff. 377 RH 378 RH, 3 pp. - widow of Jeffery Keene - 1669 Keene John of St. Martin in the Fields, Middlesex: PROB11/329: f. 447 LH & RH 2 pp. Contains a reference to his sister Jane, the wife of Richard Bettrice of St. Peter's in the Bayly, City of Oxford, chirurgeon and a bequest to the City of Oxford. None of these wills contained details that make them likely to relate to your family. I have noted the references so that you know precisely what has been researched which will be important for any future work.

A later letter from Dr. Taylor intimates a possible connection between the Keen(e) and Wilder families, both listed on passenger's list of Confidence.

" The connection between the Keene and Wilder families has been further intimated by the will of Thomas Wilder, proved in 1619. It is extremely likely that this was the husband of the Martha Wilder who was listed with the Keenes aboard ship in 1638. His will was also witnessed by one Matthew Keene who sailed on the Confidence. Furthermore, they had a son called Matthew, too. You will see there is a mention of a David Keene amongst the will extracts and a David Keene was mentioned by Thomas Keene of St. Olave's Southwark. While this may be a chance finding of the David (which is not the most frequently used of names), it could suggest a link between Southwark and the Oxfordshire Keen family: the possibility being followed that John Keene 'my brother's son that is now with me' could be your ancestor. The will search did not provide any obvious material to link your Keenes with the Wilders but such a search was necessary. I feel sure that some link did exist and an extended search in Shiplake and Checkenden will or may provide the evidence required. A recent check in the Oxfordshire Marriage Index did not produce an entry for Thomas Wilder or Martha Keene: I am wondering if Martha was a Keene by birth. Of course, this is speculation, but sometimes a hunch pays dividends. The will of Thomas Wilder (1619) also mentions land in Shiplake part purchased of Thomas Bearse. One of the people listed under Martha Wilder's name in the passenger list is Augustine Bearce, aged 20, and suggests a further connection between Shiplake and the Keenes. (A copy of a parish map of Oxfordshire was received from Dr. Taylor. Following is information from the Oxfordshire Arechives sent by Dr. Taylor.

Dr. Taylor also sent gleanings from Wilder wills and Beares and Wells. They did not really proved useful in making a connection. He stated that SHIPLAKE WILLS 1620-1640 are too numerous to search from parish to parish without further funding. I terminated his services. It seems that it will only be by accident that I will be able to find any further connections with the Keen(e) family in England. I tried.

4. GEORGE PENN, eldest son of William Penn (William, John) of Malmesbury, by his wife Margaret Rastall, was born about 1571, died intestate at Brinkworth and was buried at Minety, 5 Jan. 1632. He was heir and executor of his grandfather's will in 1592. He became one of the Preservers, Keepers and Officers of the Forest of Braydon; appears in the Subsidy Rolls of Minety, 40 Elizabeth I (1597/8)[27], again in 42 Elizabeth I (1599-1600)[28] and 1 James I (1604-5)[29] but in 19 James I (1621-2), there is no Penn in Minety.[30] He was a churchwarden in Minety in 1608 but must soon have moved to Brinkworth, at least by 1621. Mrs. Colquhoun Grant says he was sent as envoy to Spain by Charles I as Prince of Wales in 1623, but this seems to be a confusion with his nephew George, son of brother Giles. He married probably by 1600 a woman named ELIZABETH -----, who was his administratrix on 15 Dec. 1632.[31]

Issue: surname Penn, order uncertain

i. William, ensign, d. Kinsale, Ireland, ca. ii. Eleonor, bapt. Cirencester, 27 Oct. 1611, then called daughter of George Penn, gent. (the only Penn entry at Cirencester); m. aged 24, 12 May 1635, Edward Keene of Blackbourton, Oxfordshire, aged 27, who had evidently d. by 1669 when she is mentioned in Admiral Penn's will.[33] (An Eleonor Penn, daughter of George [sic: surely error for Giles] was bapt. at St. Mary Radcliffe, Bristol, 26 May 1610, d. 24 Nov. 1612.)

iii. ?Elizabeth, m. at St. Thomas, Bristol, 18 Sept. 1620, George Jones of Grittenham, Wilts,[34] and his will dated 30 Feb. 1629, probated 7 Oct. 1629, named George Penn as overseer.

It is noted in Hezekiah Keen's family account (MD 28:1) that his grandfather, Josiah Keen, married twice, first to Abigail Warren Little and then to Hannah Dingley. Abigail Little is in our direct line of descendancy.

Josiah Keen, son of John and Martha, married Abigail (Warren) Little daughter of Thomas Little and Ann Warren -- daughter of Richard Warren, Mayflower passenger. Josiah and Abigail had two children before her death, JOSIAH jr and an unknown daughter who died young. After Abigail's death, Josiah married Hannah Dingley and they had seven children -- John, Hannah, Sarah, Matthew, Elizabeth, Ephraim and Abigail. We are interested in the lineage of JOSIAH jr. There is little known about Hannah Dingley, however she was the daughter of John Dingley of Marshfield, so she was born either in Marshfield or Duxbury and could be traced by following the Dingley lineage.

Biographical Sketches

DINGLEY, JOHN – John Dingley may have resided earlier at Lynn (Moore Families, p. 227), but he first appears in Plymouth records at Sandwich on 4 December 1638, when he was fined ten shillings for being defective in arms, and was also presented for keeping two hogs unringed (PCR 1:107). On 16 April 1640 he was granted five and one-half acres of meadow lands allotted at Sandwich (PCR 1:149). On 5 June 1644 he was chosen constable of Marshfield (PCR 2:72). Since he was on the 1643 ATBA for both Sandwich and Marshfield, it would seem that he moved from the former to the latter about this time. He also served as grandjuror (PCR 2:84, 116, 3:78, 4:37, 91, 148, 5:91), and as a highway surveyor (PCR 2:102, 4:124), and on grand and trial juries (PCR, passim). He became a freeman on 5 June 1644 (PCR 2:71). On 22 October 1650 Richard Church sold Dingley some land in Marshfield, and Dingley was described as a smith (blacksmith) in the deed (PCR 12:197). On 1 November 1679 John Dingley and his fourteen-year-old servant Arthur Loe appeared in court and Arthur covenanted to live with Dingley and his wife as an apprentice and servant until he became twenty-one (PCR 6:25). Administration of Dingley's estate, dated 18 March 1689/90, shows that he was survived by son Jacob, and Jacob's son Joseph; Sarah, the wife of William Ford; and Hannah, the wife of Josiah Keane (PN&Q 5:92).

His wife has been called Sarah _____. The accounts of John Dingley's origins as the son of an armigerous family of Cropthorne, Worcestershire, with several fairly recent royal lines, as given by Edward N. Dingley, Ancestors of Edward N. Dingley (1954), are colorful, but unsupported by evidence and not very logical. Some of the reasons for doubting this Dingley ancestry are given by Eugene A. Stratton, "Search for the English Ancestry of John Dingley," TAG 56:207; however, this article gives an incorrect surname for Dingley's wife and the author fell into the mistake made by others, such as Savage and Arthur Adams, of thinking that Dingley died some thirty-one years earlier than he actually did. An updated article by Stratton, "Another Look at John Dingley of Marshfield," will appear in TAG, 61:234. Moore Families, p. 227-32, gives a well-documented narrative of Dingley's life and some of his early descendants, and shows that he also had two sons named John who died young, and a daughter Mary, who married Capt. Myles Standish's son Josiah, but died without issue.

P. 1141 -- HISTORY OF MARSHFIELD

Up to this time Green's Harbor was simply a parish, some of its occupants of lands having houses and homes there, and others owning and cultivating farms or herding their cattle, while they retained their dwellings in Plymouth or Duxbury. About six thousand acres of land, including the two miles, or more than one-third of the present territory of Marshfield, had been granted to individual proprietors. In addition to the above, at various times before 1640, tracts of land varying in extent from fifteen to eighty acres were granted to Joseph Beadle, John Rouse, James Lindall, John Ford, Arthur Howland, William Sherman, John Phillips, Roger Chandler, Samuel Tompkins, Edmund Weston, Ralph Chapman, John Gardner, John Hardmer, Edmund Hawes, John Winslow, Stephen Tracy, George Partridge, Henry Sampson, Experience Mitchell, John Paybody, Abraham Peiree, and William Tubbs. These extracts from the records show clearly enough who were the settlers and occupants of land in Marshfield before its incorporation. In later days, after the incorporation, John Adams, James Adams, Robert Waterman, Anthony Snow, John Branch, Christopher Winter, John Hewett, John Gorham, James Pitney, John Dingley, John Somers, Samuel Baker, Timothy Williamson, John Foster, John Walker, John Low, Thomas Chillingworth, Samuel Sprague, Edward Stevens, Thomas Doggett, Josiah Keen, William Shurtleff, Thomas Little, and John Jones either bought or obtained grants of lands, and may perhaps properly be called second comers.

On the 2d of March, 1640/1, it was enacted by the court "that Green's Harbor shall be a Towneship and have all the priveledges of a Towneship that other Townes have, and that it shall be called by the name of Rexhame but now Marshfield." The termination "hame" meant simply "town," and Rexhame or Rexham was another name for Kingstown. The Indian name for the territory was Missauca tucket.

Ashdod

As the first families of Duxbury grew and prospered, sons and even sons-in-law needed land of their own. When land could not be carved out of the original homestead grants along the shore, the settlers made their way inland along the North River, taking up portions of the town's Common Land, which then included Pembroke and even farther inland.

Cleared land was at a premium in the early days when hay was prized, and clearing hay fields was tedious work. Meadow lands along streams were very desirable, and it was along South River, Philip's Brook, Kein's Meadow Brook, and Pudding Brook that early homesteads were laid out. Pudding Brook is now in Pembroke but at that time there was no dividing line. All of these streams flow north, a direction that makes some early deeds confusing when "above" and "below" points on a stream are mentioned.

By 1680 Nathaniel Cole and Ralph Thatcher had land by South River, with Robinson, Wadsworth, and Brewster lands nearby. Daniel Alden, Peter West, and William Clark also owned land near South River. Josiah Kein, Sr., had land near Pudding Brook around 1700. It is doubtful if there were any houses in the area that early, perhaps a few, but the land was mostly waiting for permanent settlers.

None of the streets we now know existed then, but there were several well defined Indian paths running generally east and west, or a bit to the southeast. Since these trails followed high ground and were worn by generations of red men, they became the highways of the white men. Several converged near the Ashdod-Pembroke line, with parts still in use today. One was the old path from the Pembroke ponds to Morton's Hole, and it was over this path that the settlers in Mattakesset, now Pembroke, traveled to the Meeting House beside the Old Burying Ground in Duxburrough Town. When Pembroke became a separate town in 1712, the Ashdod settlement was growing, and the path accommodated them. By 1833 Congress Street was laid out, using parts of the old route, while the most Southerly parts continue as Mayflower Street.

In 1706 the Town of Duxburrough found its Meeting House inadequate and voted to "sell some of the Commons to defray the expenses of a New Meeting House." It was at this time that the real settlement of Ashdod began, with families moving in and houses being built. Two of Josiah Kein's sons, Matthew and Josiah, Jr., bought land adjoining their father's, bringing the Kein holdings nearer to the stream that became Kein's Meadow Brook. The "Meadow" has been dropped in the interest of economy and the spelling has changed with the years, but Keene's Brook still flows through Ashdod.

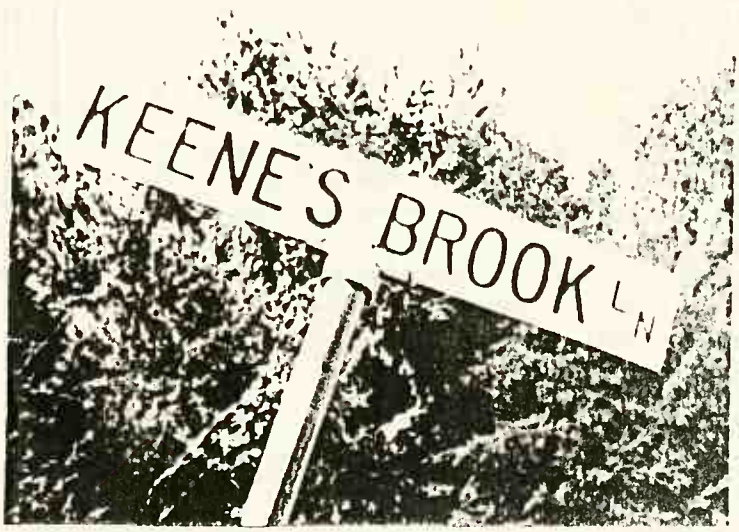
DUXBURY INFORMATION ON JOHN KEEN AND FAMILY MEMBERS

John Keen died on November 14, 1649 in Duxbury, Massachusetts and according to other genealogical records, no one knows exactly where he is buried. I checked the "Old Cemetery" in the heart of Duxbury. Pilgrims Miles Standish and John Alden are buried there and there were stones found dating before 1638, however, no stone for John Keen or any other Keen could be found. I can only assume that some Keen family Bible has the dates and location in it and that is why we have a date, however, we may never know who has it. (See photo).

I found Keene Street (where the Josiah Keen home is located - page 5G) in Duxbury and also Keene's Brook Lane (mentioned in Ashdod article - page 5A). There was an old cemetery on Keene Street but the oldest grave found was in the mid-1700's and only one Keen grave found (Hugh Keen).



A WILDER FAMILY WILL WHICH MAY OR MAY NOT HAVE A CONNECTION TO JOHN OR MARTHA KEEN(E) OF ENGLAND. I DID NOT HAVE IT INTERPRETED. MAYBE SOMEONE ELSE IN THE FAMILY CAN TRY IF THEY WISH.

JOSIAH E. KEEN 9 MARCH 1878 CARPENTER

There is documentation that both Joshua Keen sr and Joshua Keen jr (our lineage) served in the American Revolutionary war, senior as a Lieutenant and junior as a Private before they made their trek to Maine in 1780 to settle in Shephardsfield (Hebron).

PORTIONS OF WILLS PRINTED IN THE MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT

The Keen family is mentioned throughout wills made in the 1600's and 1700's and apparently the wills were of historical value to the Mayflower Society in tracing descendants.

In Deacon Benjamin Alden's Estate, SHERECK KEEN and ISAAC KEEN are mentioned. Will was allowed 12 August 1741.

In the Will of Miles Standish (3) of Duxbury, HEZEKIAH KEEN is mentioned. Will was allowed 20 May 1746.

In the Will of Grace Wormall, she mentions her daughter Ruth and grandchildren, WILLIAM KEEN, LEVI KEEN, ABEL KEEN, SAMUELL KEEN, JOSIAH KEEN and Grace Cole. The will was allowed 13 January 1748.

All of these decedants lived in Duxbury and the wills are on record with Plymouth County, Massachusetts.

[DEACON BENJAMIN[S] ALDEN'S ESTATE]

[Plym. Co. Prob. 8: 215] On 7 July, 1740, "Experience Standish of Duxbourough . . . . Widdow" was appointed administratrix on the estate of "Penelope Standish late of Duxbourough afores[d] Spinster Deaceased . . . . Intestate".

Experience Standish signed by a mark. The witnesses were John Winslow and Benjamin Alden.

[From original warrant] On 7 July, 1740, "Edward Arnold Esq[r] Mes[rs] Joseph Brewster & Joshua Brewster all of Duxborough" were appointed to appraise the estate. [Also recorded, 8: 216.]

[From unrecorded inventory] "An Inventory of all & Singular the Estate" of "Penelope Standish Late of Duxborough Singlewoman" was taken, 7 July, 1740, by the three appraisers. No real estate was mentioned. "a Legacy Given her by her Father" amounted to £100. Experience Standish, administratrix, made oath to the inventory, 7 July, 1740.

[8: 242] Experience Standish, the administratrix, presented an account, signed by a mark, on 3 November, 1740, which was approved. Payments had been made to Joshua Brewster, Priscilla Standish, "Doct[r] Harlow".

her husband on 21 February, 1712; and on 21 March, 1715/16, the estate was settled, the widow receiving her thirds, and the remainder being divided "among the four Children," "Eldest son Jethro," "Second son Terah," "Eldest daughter Ruth," "Youngest daughter Zurviah." [Plym. Co. Probate Records, III: 203, 394.]

Josiah Wormall and Grace Sprague, both of Duxbury, were married 25 December, 1723. [Ante 4: 72.] Grace Wormall of Duxbury was appointed administratrix of the estate of her late husband Josiah on 3 November, 1738, and the widow's thirds of the real estate were set off to her 7 July, 1740. [Plym. Co. Probate Records, VII: 449, VIII: 239.] Grace Wormall, widow, of Duxbury made her will 13 January, 1748, and it was proved 3 April, 1758. She mentioned sons Jethro Sprague and Terah Sprague; daughter Zerviah Chandler; "my Six Grand Childeren the Childeren of My Daughter Ruth late deced viz, to William Keen, Levi Keen, Abel Keen, Samuell Keen, Josiah Keen, & Grace Cole"; granddaughters Silvina Sprague and Grace Sprague; grandson Reuben Chandler; grandson William Sprague. [Plym. Co. Probate Records, XIV: 503.]

The foregoing abstracts prove that Grace Wadsworth married William Sprague in 1700 or 1701, became a widow in 1712 or 1713, and was married again, in 1723, to Josiah Wormall, whom she survived about twenty years.

Deacon John Wadsworth's fifth daughter, Lydia, was of age, but unmarried, when her father made his will, 23 April, 1700, and had become Lydia Peterson before 4 December, 1723, according to the settlement of her mother's estate. The only Lydia Peterson I could find, who could possibly be the one named in this document, was Lydia the wife of Jonathan Peterson of Duxbury. But Winsor's History of Duxbury, published in 1849, states that Jonathan Peterson married Lydia the daughter of Rodolphus Thacher of Duxbury, and this appears to have been accepted without question hitherto. It was necessary, therefore, to determine whether Lydia Thacher married Jonathan Peterson or some one else — or died unmarried. The investigation was rendered more difficult by the various migrations of the Thacher family, but I was able to secure absolute proof that Lydia Thacher married, not Jonathan Peterson of Duxbury, but John Dean of Plainfield, Lebanon and Groton, Conn.

As already stated, Lydia Wadsworth was still unmarried on 23 April, 1700, and became Lydia Peterson before 4 December, 1723. Jonathan and Lydia Peterson had children born at

EBENEZER RICHMOND'S WILL

By the Editor

Ebenezer Richmond[1], son of John Richmond and his second wife, Abigail[2] Rogers (John[1], Thomas[1]), was born at Newport, R. I., 12 May, 1676, and married, about 1700 or 1701, Anna Sprout[2], daughter of Robert Sprout and Elizabeth[2] Samson (Henry[1]), of Scituate, Mass.

Ebenezer and Anna (Sprout) Richmond had six children, recorded at Middleborough, Mass.: Ebenezer, Robert, Anna, Rachel, Elizabeth, Silvester.

Ebenezer Richmond[2] made his will, 7 April, 1720, and an agreement of his heirs was dated 12 May, 1720, consequently he died between those two dates.

In the original will the wife's name was first written "hannah", but the initial letter was crossed out, apparently in the ink used in the rest of the word. Unfortunately, the wife's name was recorded as "Hannah" on the Plymouth County Probate Records; but there is conclusive evidence that her name was Anna.

Robert Sprout's daughter "Anna" was born in March, 1671/2, and in his will,* dated 23 November, 1712, "my daughter Mercy oldham" and "my daughter Anna Richmond" and "my daughter Hannah Cane" received legacies.

Thomas Oldham and Mercy Sprout were married, at Scituate, 27 June, 1683, and Ephraim Keen and Hannah Sprout were married, at Scituate, 1 April, 1703; but the marriage record of Ebenezer Richmond and Anna Sprout has not been found.

On 6 June, 1712, Robert Sprout, then of Middleborough, Mass., sold land in that town to "Mercy oldham y[e] wife of Thomas oldham & anna[h] Richmond The wife of Ebenezar Richmond & Hannah Keen the wife of Ephraim". [Plym. Co. Deeds, 10:2:28.†]

* See Mayflower Descendant, VI: 8

† "Hannah" was first written, but the capital "H" and the final "h" were both crossed off.

On 16 June, 1713, "Thomas Oldham & Mercy his Wife . . . . and Eph[m] Kean & Hannah his Wife . . . . & Eben[r] Richmond & anna his Wife" sold land which "did formerly Belong unto our Hon[d] Father Rob[t] Sprout Deceased". [Plym. Co. Deeds, 12:32.]

Other quotations from the original records could be given, but enough have been presented to show that Ebenezer Richmond married Anna Sprout, and that Hannah Sprout, her sister, married Ephraim Keen.

We here print exhaustive abstracts of Ebenezer Sprout's will and all other records, or documents on file, in the Plymouth County, Mass., Registry of Probate, relating to the settlement of the estate.

This article has been prepared at the expense of two members of the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants: Miss Elizabeth Cowing and Miss Janet McKay Cowing, of Seneca Falls, N. Y., descendants of Ebenezer and Anna (Sprout) Richmond, through their daughter Anna Richmond, who married Caleb Cowing, of Rochester, Mass., on 3 May, 1734.

KEENE, KEIN, KEEN.

Martha Keene, aged 60 years, was a passenger, 1638, in the good ship Confidence, of London, John Johnson, master, to New England. She was accompanied by John Keene, aged 17; Eliza, Martha, Josias, and Sarah Keene, probably her children.

Josias settled near Thomas Deggett, in Marshfield; m. Hannah, dau. of John Dingley, sen. They had, John, b. 1661; Josiah, Matthew, Hannah, and perhaps others. Hannah m. Isaac Oldham, 1695.

Josias Keene and his wife Lydia had nine children baptised in the First Church, Marshfield, by Mr. Gardner, 24 Oct., 1701.

ANCIENT LANDMARKS OF PEMBROKE

SQUIRE KEEN MANSION AND OLDHAM FARMS

John Oldham followed in his father's footsteps, and was a selectman of Pembroke 1866-1869. For many years he ran the grist mill close by the Garrison: and for the rest, cultivated his farm. He died 6 July 1871, aged sixty-two years; his widow, in 1897. The daughters of Mr. Oldham occupy his fine old homestead, and them I have to thank for a great deal of interesting and valuable information about the place.

Far and—I suppose—by this time almost forgotten, are Josiah Keen the Conspirator and his traffickings. To me, he has of late been a figure very often present; since at his ancient secretary, according to tradition, most of the work upon those Landmarks was done. It was purchased from Capt. Turner by Peter Salmond, and thus descended to my mother. Still on its summit flames the torch of sandalwood, and on the lid an ostrich grasps a writhing serpent in his beak, and in the arch above the bookshelves that angel Gabriel winds his trumpet whom Squire Josiah so resolutely defied. Let us pray the Angel make light of his rough-house; writing large his better character, and the high service which he did the Town.

KEEN FAMILY GENEALOGY

HEZEKIAH KEEN AND LONDON BRIDGE REFERENCE

MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT VOLUME 28:1 REFERENCE

(The following is in the words and writing of Hezekiah Keen with misspellings, etc.)

"Hezekiah Keen was Born in Duxbrough in August ye 6 Day 1702
"My Grandfather was Born in London on Lonon Bredg and he Came out of England with his father and mother & left in London two Brothers Behind them & my grat grandfather & grat grandmother came to Boston In New England and from thence to Hengham and from there to Meshfield and there my Grandfather Josiah Keen mared with Abigil Lettel who had my father Josiah Keen & one Dafter Who Died young and my granmother Dyed allso & left only my father Josiah Keen who mared with Ledia Baker and theay had Eleven children whos Nams was Benjamin & Josiah who Died young & Abigil Elener & Josiah Nathaniel Bethia Samuel Isaac and myself who is Hezekiah who was Born 1702"

The term born on London Bridge intrigued me, along with any other relative that saw the reference. I researched this piece of lore and the English history books state that the bridge in c. 1620 was inhabited by innkeepers, open markets, tenants of rooms in the buildings that spanned the entire length of the bridge. The bridge was later destroyed in the late 1600's and rebuilt. However, the English history states that England was going through a terrible plague during the 1620-1650 years. The buildings on the bridge eventually became what we call tenements and many average people actually lived on the bridge. So, it is quite probable that John and Martha Keene did live on the bridge, had their children and economics, the plague, or both caused them to come to the "New World." There is little known about the original John and Martha Keene who came to Boston in 1638. John Keene is not listed on the passenger manifest, so it is possible that he was already here and sent for his family.

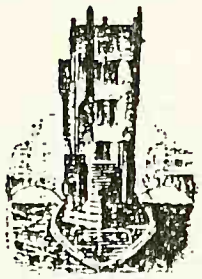
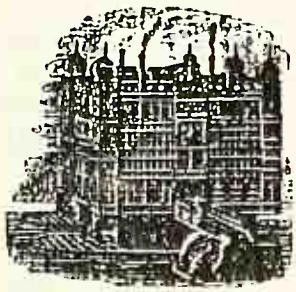
LONDON BRIDGE AND THE KEEN(E) FAMILY

It is reported in many genealogical publications that John and Martha Keen(e) came to America on the ship CONFIDENCE which sailed from Southampton, England on April 11, 1638 and landed in Boston. The ship's log does not list the senior John Keen, but lists Martha 60, Elizabeth 13, Martha, Josias, John 17, and Sarah. Hezekiah Keen's family account (private records now in possession of Mayflower Society) refers to his grandfather (Josias – Josiah) being "Born in London on Lonon Bredg." (See Hezekiah's Account).

I was confused (at first) when I saw that the children were born on London Bridge. All those that read that particular piece of information was skeptical of its validity. I learn the following after some research on the London Bridge's history.



A sketch of the St Thomas à Becket Chapel which stood on London Bridge, after its conversion into a dwelling-house and warehouse.



Nonsuch House on London Bridge, seen from the south-west. The blocks of wood from which it was constructed were imported piecemeal from Holland.

Nonsuch House from the west, showing the racing currents between the starlings.

The original London Bridge (c.1100 A.D.) was made of timber and constantly had to be repaired. The first stone bridge was built and completed about the year 1208 under the direction of Peter Colechurch, a priest / architect. One of the first buildings erected on the bridge was a large chapel (St. Thomas à Becket) and was later converted to a dwelling house and warehouse. The original buildings were great and grand and housed (usually) the upper class of Londoners. Nonsuch House, "a fantastic building" eventually, as was many others, converted to a tenement. As the centuries progressed, the bridge eventually became a series of large buildings, under a state of constant decay, being destroyed and replaced over the years. A watchtower was in the center of the bridge where the severed heads of "traitors" were impaled on poles for all to see. The watchtower was removed in 1577 and resited at the Southwark end of the bridge.

The bridge suffered many tragedies -- fire in 1212 -- and the bridge stood in ruins for many years before being restored. Another disaster in 1437 collapsed one end of the bridge. There were two devestating fires in 1633 and 1666.

The bridge had many shoppes and about the time John Keen and family were there, the buildings housed many residents in tenement (one room apartments) throughout the bridge.

Some occupations of the bridge dwellers in the 16th and 17th centuries was makers of needles and pins, hosiers, haberdashers of hats, shoemaker, glovers, girdler, distillers of strong waters, grocers, innkeepers, scriveners, a curate of the church with his clerk. A most common occupation was publishing and book selling. Many artists took up permanent dwelling on the bridge.

We'll never really know, but on speculating, it is possible that John and Martha had been through the devestating fire of 1633 and the plagues of 1603 and 1625 where more than 68,000 Londoners had perished. Maybe the lure of a new life in the "New World" was too much and he came to America first to investigate and then sent for his wife and children. Records indicate that Martha Keen(e) died in 1638. It is possible that she died on the ship.

RICHARD WARREN

MAYFLOWER PASSENGER
SETTLED IN PLYMOUTH, MASSACHUSETTS 1620

RICHARD WARREN came from London and was called a "merchant" of that city (Mourt). Extensive research in every available source of information -- registers, chancery and probate in the London courts, proved fruitless in an attempt to identify him. As he died before 1628, it is probable that he was considerably past middle life at the date of emigration.

A careful analysis of the reading of Bradford's statement about Richard Warren in the section devoted to "Decreasings and Increasings" justifies the compiler's belief that Mrs. Elizabeth Warren, who came over on the Anne in 1623, was his second wife. After stating that "his wife came over to him" he adds the significant statement "by whom he had two sons before (he) dyed." After stating the "increase" he adds: "but he had five daughters more come over with his wife" which can only be accurately read as his children and not hers. His separation of the sons, who were the specific issue of the wife Elizabeth, from the daughters who came over with the wife completes the picture of family relationships. As she survived him for nearly half a century, dying in 1673, it is almost conclusive confirmation of this theory. An estimation of probable dates of birth of the five daughters, based on the known facts, gives the following result: Mary, born 1606; Elizabeth, 1608; Anne, 1612; Sarah, 1614, and Abigail, 1616.

Richard Warren, a London haberdasher, was licensed to marry Elizabeth Evans of St. Mildred Poultry, 1 January, 1592/3, at St. Leonard's Shoreditch, and a Richard Warren married Marjorie Jordan , 1 September, 1606, at St. Martin's in the Field. Either one of these might be the Mayflower Pilgrim.

St. Leonard Shoreditch parish adjoins that of St. Botolph without Aldgate and St. Mary whitechapel, from both of which came Pilgrims, and Nicholas Snow has been identified as of St. Leonard's (q.v.). It is in the heart of the Pilgrim area in London. The records of the Honorable Artillery Company of London, 1612, contain the admission of a Richard Warren as a member that year but no further information is available as to his identity.

KEEN / WARREN CONNECTION

The Mayflower connection of the Keen family was first discovered in the Hezekiah Keen account which is in this book. The Mayflower Descendant (MD) has accepted his account as valid and the Mayflower Descendants Society possess his book. In the MD 1905-1906, v. 7-8 p. 191-192 looks at this information for the first time. However, the MD 1930 v.28:1 has Hezekiah Keen's entire account printed and formally accepted as fact.

The first Josiah Keen in America married Abigail Little, and they had the first Keen born in America, Josiah, Jr. Abigail was the daughter of Thomas Little and Ann Warren (daughter of Mayflower passenger Richard Warren). Josiah Keen, Jr. is our direct descendant.

RICHARD WARREN, Twelfth Signer.

Stern facts must be accepted in writing history, and, willing or otherwise, the records prove that Richard Warren, the Pilgrim, cannot be placed in any certainty with regard to his family relations before his advent in the colonies, as one of the Mayflower Pilgrims.

Certain it is that he came on this ship, and was followed later on in the Ann by his wife, Elizabeth, and his daughters. The confusion in regard to him arises from the fact that there was another Warren, who was early in the colonies, and who had the honor of being a son of Christopher Warren, and the pleasure of having Elizabeth Jouatt, or Ivatt, widow of —— Marsh, for his wife. There the story, as told us of the Pilgrim, ends, their children being two sons, Richard and John, as the chart accompanying this article shows.

Yet, for all practical purposes, our Pilgrim, arguing from the family names there represented, must have his place as kin somewhere in the records.

In the short time allowed him, all bearing testimony to his value, not needing to wait until he had passed the Rubicon, and in his silent grave closed the living animosities. They described him as "a man of integrity, justice and uprightness, of piety and serious religion."

SIGNER.

Richard Warren, the twelfth Signer of the Compact, with the honorable prefix of Mr., to which he always seemed fully entitled, is mentioned by Bradford "as a most useful man during the short time he lived, bearing a deep share in the difficulties and troubles of the plantation."

For some unknown cause, through all the accounts of this banding together of the Mayflower passengers for their better government, and personal responsibility of good behavior, the place occupied by each one in the compact seems to be considered a matter of precedence of position. If so, what an argument for John Alden and John Howland and the men "called servants."

Five daughters and two sons owed filial allegiance to Richard and Elizabeth Warren.

The girls, who came with their mother in the Ann, married active men in the colonies, Mary becoming the wife of Robert Bartlett; Ann, of Thomas Little; Sarah, Joseph Cooke; Elizabeth, Richard Church. October 4, 1632, a carpenter, born in 1608, a sergeant in the Pequod war, and, best of all, they were the parents of Col. Benjamin Church, the distinguished hero of the Indian wars.

Then Abigail, to complete the list, married Anthony Snow, one of the prominent men of Marshfield.

Nathaniel and Joseph, the sons, were born in Plymouth, the first marrying Mary Walker, and Joseph, Priscilla Faunce. Both the names and marriages of this family have been greatly to their credit.

Their Norman blood flows through the veins of the patriots, the pleaders, the successful merchants of this country.

The descendants of the Pilgrim Richard Warren have largely inhabited Plymouth and the eastern part of Massachusetts, although the State of New York also puts in a claim.

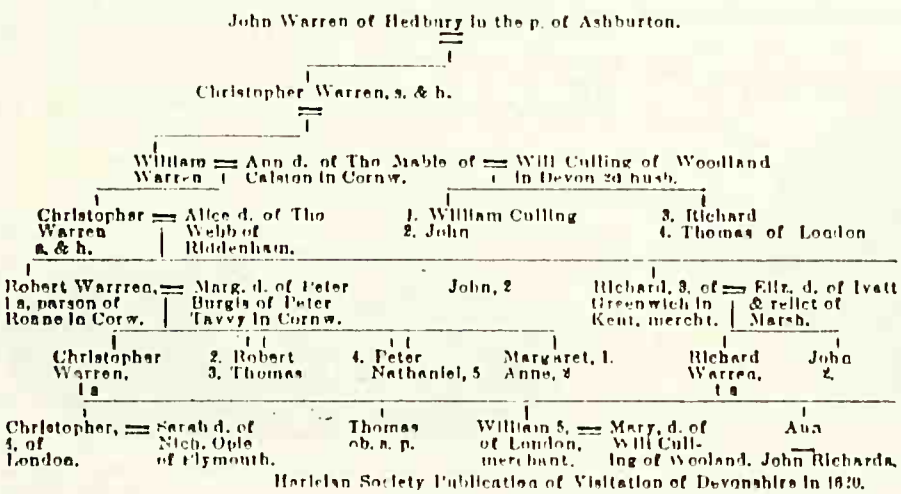
BOTH BRANCHES.

The two branches of Warren unite very naturally in the fact that the Pilgrim descendant Gen. James Warren, the revolutionary officer and president of the Provincial Congress of Massachusetts, succeeded Gen. Joseph Warren, of Bunker Hill fame, a member of the other family, in office. The following record shows how naturally the mixing of the lineage occurred, and though, by reference to the chart, we can see that it was not the Mayflower Pilgrim, there are so many points in common with the record handed down to us that all would be unwilling to change their opinion without the strong substantiation of authenticated history:

Richard Warren———Elizabeth, daughter of Greenwich, Co. of —— Jouatt, and Kent, merchant, one widow of —— Marsh, of the first settlers of She died at Plymouth Plymouth, N. E. He in 1673, aged 90. died in 1628.

The Warrens lead straight to the Mayflower, though the repetition of names in the two families makes the title a very puzzling one, but there need be no doubt of the claim if presented by those bearing the names of Otis, Winslow, Walker, Doty, Bradford and many others scattered the whole world over.

Again the matter must be left to the Society of Mayflower Descendants. Their good work is progressing, fed by the knowledge gained from each seeker for enrollment on the list of members. See notes.



Harleian Society Publication of Visitation of Devonshire in 1620.

Richard and Joseph repeat themselves in both families; then, too, there are Nathaniels.

Still, I can take, "grave Richard Warren" from his start with us, and give him hearty thanks for his descent, even if the ascent still remains unknown.

Of him, personally, there is, and to say, an unfinished record to place in evidence. Escaping the first sickness, living to greet his wife and daughters, it seems a hard fate to relate that he only lived to 1628, and "it was not until after seven years of re-labor that any of the men who joined in that pioneer Thanksgiving festival in 1621 had been laid in his grave."

He had taken the initial step, proved himself worthy of the position he had achieved

And how strange, as you read the list, is the peculiarity of physical strength at the beginning, the early death rate being mainly from the numbers as they increase.

Richard Warren was a true Pilgrim spirit, whether of the Leyden Church or one of the converts along the Scrooby Post road, too weak of purpose to join the movement at its inception, but who grew in strength with time and conviction, until the move for bleak New England found him more than ready, waiting to record himself as of the little band.*

*Why should he not have been the Richard Warren recorded as Sheriff of Coventry, 16107 Having five daughters to come out with their mother in the Ann, fits into the necessary maturity.

THE WILLS OF JOSIAH KEEN, SR., OF DUXBURY AND HIS SON JOSIAH, OF PEMBROKE

By the Editor

Josiah Keen, Sr., of Marshfield and Duxbury, Mass., married, first, Abigail Little[6], daughter of Thomas and Anna[5] (Warren) Little of Marshfield, and granddaughter of Richard[4] Warren, the Mayflower Passenger. Josiah and Abigail Keen had two children: a son, Josiah Keen[6], who married Lydia Baker; and a daughter, who died young, and whose name is unknown.

Josiah Keen, Sr., married, for his second wife, Hannah Dingley, daughter of John Dingley of Marshfield, and by her had seven children: three sons, John, Matthew and Ephraim, and four daughters, Hannah, Elizabeth, Abigail and Sarah.

Josiah Keen, Sr., of Duxbury, made his will 28 May, 1695, but it was not probated until 15 September, 1710. The date of his death has not been found.

Josiah Keen[6] (Abigail Little[6], Anna[5] Warren, Richard[4]) married Lydia Baker, as already stated, and had eleven children, seven sons and four daughters. The sons were: Benjamin, Josiah (died young), Josiah again, Nathaniel, Samuel, Isaac, Hezekiah. The daughters were: Abigail, who married Nicholas Drew; Eleanor, who married Joseph Thomas; Lydia, who married George Partridge; Bethiah, who married Judah West.

Josiah Keen[6] lived in Pembroke. He made his will 2 February, 1728; but the date of his death has not been found. The first of the witnesses to his will was sworn on 23 December, 1732, and Josiah probably died not long before that date.

We here present exhaustive abstracts of all records, and original documents on file, in the Plymouth County, Mass., Registry of Probate, relating to the estates of Josiah Keen of Duxbury and his son Josiah Keen of Pembroke, the proper reference being given with each abstract.

This article is printed at the expense of a member of the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, Mr. John W. Churchill, of Plymouth, Mass., who is descended from Judah and Bethiah (Keen) West in two different lines: through their daughter Lydia West, who married George Holmes; and through their son Samuel West, who married Elizabeth Rich.

The will was dated 28 May, 1695, and signed by "the mark of Josiah Keen senior". The witnesses were Josiah Holmes and "Aaron Soul". On 15 September, 1710, "The Will of Josiah Kean late of Duxbury" was probated, on the testimony of the two witnesses. [The will was also recorded, 2: 160.]

[From original document] Francis Barker and Josiah Holmes took the inventory, on 15 September, 1710, and on that day, "Widdow Hannah Keane made oath that the abovewritten is a true Inventory of the Estate of her late husband Josiah Keen" No real estate was mentioned. [The inventory was also recorded, 2: 161.]

Note four (4) different spellings of Keen in this will
KEEN - KEENE - KEAN - KEANE

Note: Both wills were signed by a "mark". It is not known if Josiah sr or Josiah jr actually wrote out their own wills or it was done by someone else which would possibly explain the different spellings of the name KEEN.

The MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT 1917-1918 v. 19-20 pp 128-131 interprets much of the wills of Josiah sr and Josiah jr Keen, however, in this book is actual copies of the hand-written wills of our ancestors, the earliest dated 1695 (Josiah sr). The MD account gives a fair and accurate account of what is said in the wills. Although some of it is very difficult to read, there are Probate Court orders for inventories of both Josiah sr's and Josiah jr's property, first by Nathaniel Thomas, Judge of Probate and by Isaac Winslow, Judge of Probate Court, Plymouth County.

An interesting piece of honesty in Josiah jr's will is (1728) " being sick and weak of body but of perfect mind and memory" which tells me that he was quite ill at the time and was putting his business in order.

Sometime after Josiah jr died, Judge Winslow directed Capt. Francis Barker, Jeremiah Cushing and Aaron Soule to inventory Josiah's estate "late of Pembroke" and his property is listed.

Hezekiah Keen's account confirms much of this information. (MD 28:1)

The DUXBURY RECORDS mention members of the Keen family many times, i.e., a description of property belonging to Hezekiah and Isaac Kein (sic) on p. 167. On p. 79, a mention of Benjamin Keen, who bought 30 acres of land on September 16, 1706. They also verify the births of Benjamin, Josiah III (1), Abigail, (listed as Kaine) d. of Josiah and Lidea. The Pembroke vital records (VR) verify the marriages of Benjamin to Deborah Howland, Elenor to Joseph Thomas, Isaac to Deborah Dwelly of Scituate on February 17, 1724 and they had at least one son, Isaac, jr. b. April 27, 1736, Bethier to Judah West, and that Josiah Keen III (2) married Rebecca Rose and two of their children's birth are recorded -- Lydiah, b. February 18, 1720 and Josiah, b. February 20, 1722. There are other verifications of births, deaths and marriages of others in the same generation. (See birth, death, marriage records of Duxbury, Pembroke and Marshfield.

It is obvious that most of the Keen family stayed in the Duxbury, Pembroke and Marshfield area for many years and it was Nathaniel's son, Joshua, b. December 13, 1730 at Pembroke who established our ties with Maine.

We are following the lineage of NATHANIEL KEEN (G4)

This Josiah Keen is most probably Josiah Keen III, the second child named Josiah, son of Josiah Keen jr (G3) and Lydia Baker. He was born c. 1690 and his age would be logical for the Continental Army in 1724.

NOTES

The KEEN name is prominent throughout Massachusetts, particularly, the early late 1700's and early 1800's. However, regarding our lineage, we must keep in mind that Joshua Keen and family moved to Maine in 1780, therefore, any mentions of KEEN(E) -- although a distant relative -- were not in our lineage from Massachusetts after 1780 until JOSEPH KEEN moved from Maine to Somerville, Massachusetts about 1879. Below is some information about some of our distant cousins.

CHAPTER XIX.

WHITE'S FERRY YARDS. — 1705-1840.

SIMEON KEENE, SIMEON KEENE, JR., BENJAMIN KEENE, ISAAC KEENE, LUKE HALL, WILLIAM HALL, SAMUEL HALL.

THE Keenes and the Halls built at these yards for many years, but they were probably occupied nearly a hundred years prior to their time. As early as 1705 we find there was built in Marshfield the sloop "MARY & ABIGAIL," 40 tons; owners, Bethia Little, widow, of Boston, Isaac Little, of Marshfield, and John Henshaw, of Boston. In 1711, the ship "TAUNTON MERCHANT," 70 tons, was built at Marshfield; owners, James Cooks, of Cullumstock, James Norman, John Blake, Samuel Lucas, and John Southerton, of Taunton, Richard Southerton of Wallington, and Joshua Norman, of Topsham; and in 1713 the sloop "BLOSSOM," 30 tons, was built at Marshfield, Joseph Flood, of Boston, owner. The above vessels were undoubtedly built on these yards, as the next oldest yard in Marshfield was at Gravelly Beach. The next vessels built here of which any account has been found were those built by Simeon Keene, and later by his sons Simeon and Benjamin. Isaac Keene was also interested in a few. Benjamin was captain of a North River packet boat about 1820. The following is the genealogy of the ship-building branch of the Keene family:

Josiah Keene mar. Hannah, dau. of John Dingley, and had one child, John, b. 1667. Simeon Keene, the shipwright, was b. Sept. 30, 1725, and d. "of a Saturday, July the 17th day of the month, 1790." He mar. in 1751 Lydia Stevens, who was b. July 19, 1728. They had children: 1. Lucy, b. Nov. 18, 1752; mar. Oliver Porter 1773. 2. Nathaniel, b. Aug. 8, 1754; 3. Ruth, b. July 31, 1756; mar. Peabody Little, and d. 1781. 4. Lydia, b. April 28, 1758. 5. Simeon, b. Nov. 26, 1761; mar. Christina Joyce. 6. Stevens, b. June 24, 1784. 7. Deborah, b. July 30, 1766. 8. Benjamin, b. Mar. 29, 1769. 9. William, b. July 11, 1771, d. Sept. 11, 1792. Five of Simeon's (the ship-builder's) children survived him, they were Lydia, Simeon, Stevens, Benjamin and William. Benjamin succeeded to the yard, and carried on the business of ship-building there. Barstow Carver, father of Hatch Carver, worked for him at one time. Benjamin Keene was a man of some property, very stern and arbitrary, and did not desire too many friends. He married Susanna Church, and had children: 1. Benjamin, now deceased. 2. Cornelius, who d. in Nov. 1888, in his 89th year. 3. Nathaniel, who resides in Marshfield. 4. Martin, who d. April 17, 1864, aged 49 years. 5. William, who left a numerous family in Hartford, Conn. 6. George R., now living in Abington, where he has a family. 7. Lydia, deceased. 8. Almira, who d. in March, 1884, aged 80 years. 9. Harriet, now living in Marshfield, and 10. Susan, deceased. MARTIN mar. and lived on Decatur St., Charlestown, during the latter part of his life, and was employed on the Charlestown Navy Yard. He left two sons and one dau. One son is mar. and resides in Weymouth, Mass., where he has two children, Mabel E. and Lillian F. The other son, Charles W. Keene, is unmarried and resides at Sea View Village, Marshfield, Mass. Ada, the dau. married a Mr. Beinbart. She d. Nov. 11, 1876, aged 22 years, leaving one child, Ada K.

Keene's yard was located on the Capt. Day place, where the Hall's afterward built. On this farm there is a well of fresh water that ebbs and flows with the tide. Simeon Keene built in 1787 the sch. "NEPTUNE," 64 tons, owned by Simeon Keene, Sr. and Jr., Marshfield; and in 1789 the slp. "INDUSTRY," 60 tons; owned by Joseph and Elisha Phillips, William Macomber, Joshua Vinal and Simeon Keene, Marshfield. He also built the following vessels: In 1793, the brig "DOLPHIN," 122 tons, of Boston; in 1794, the ship "SUPERB," 335 tons, of Boston; in 1795 the brig "DESPATCH," 139 tons, of Portsmouth. The ship "COLUMBIAN PACKET," 220 tons, of Marshfield, built in 1802, Joseph Hunt, Adam Fish and Chandler Sampson, of Marshfield, owners, was probably built by the Keene family.

Benja Keen

built in 1805 the sch. "SATURN," 107 tons, owned by Benjamin and Isaac Keene, and Samuel Baker, of Marshfield; and in 1818 the sch. "EOS," 85 tons, of Boston, sold at the Sandwich Islands, January 25, A. D., 1820. The Keenes built many other vessels here, but no record has been found by which they may be identified. The only other vessel of which we have positive proof of having been built by the Keenes is the sloop "NORTH RIVER PACKET," 38 tons, built in 1820. She was owned by Benjamin and Isaac Keene, Jr., Alden Briggs, Pembroke, Benjamin Hatch, Daniel Phillips, David Church, Nathaniel Pratt, Luther Little, Dunforthe Hall, John Bourne, Jr., of Marshfield. She was afterward sold to Boston, and owned in 1839 by John Belcher, of Boston, and Benjamin Bramhall, of Quincy. This was doubtless the last vessel built by the Keenes. Between 1820 and 1825 no record has been found of vessels having been built here. In the absence of the five years history of these yards, a few old and interesting items, and one or two anecdotes, will be inserted. In the Boston Gazette and Country Journal of Dec. 13, 1773, is recorded the death of a Marshfield man, as follows:

"Last Friday evening being very dark and rainy, Mr. Ezekiel Kent, of Fox Islands, formerly of Marshfield, having been on board a sloop lying at Minot's T, to see an acquaintance, about six o'clock, was returning to the vessel to which he belonged, but unfortunately fell from the T and was drowned. He was 27 years of age, and a man well respected."

A most remarkable story is related in the Massachusetts Spy for the week of August 18th to 21st, 1770:

"Last Tuesday a whale about forty feet in length was discovered by a small fishing schooner off Marshfield, which was then attacked by three large sharks, one of whom the fishermen killed. It measured sixteen feet long, and upon opening it they took out of its paunch as many pieces of the whale as would make a barrel of oil, and it was thought the liver of the shark would make two or three barrels more. The whale was so wounded and worried by the sharks that it became an easy prize for the fishermen, who carried it into Marshfield."

year, two vessels, the schooner Helen, 100 tons, of Boston, and the sloop North River, 27 tons. Charles and Benjamin Hatch part owners. Scollay Baker in 1800 built the schooner Polly, 111 tons, at Duxbury. Prince Hatch built in 1801 the schooner Three Friends, 74 tons, of Barnstable; Elisha Ford, Jr., in 1802 built the brigantine Eliza, 165 tons, and owned it with his father. Aaron Sherman in 1809, the sloop Polly, 35 tons, owned by Benjamin Rogers and Ebenezer Sherman.

While vessels were building on the Marshfield shores of the North river, others were being destroyed on her Atlantic coast. Many sailors have found their graves in the sands of this shore. Thomas Wright, Job Cole and Andrew Seaward, all of Marshfield, lost their lives in 1712 from an upset boat off the Gurnet. In 1759 a schooner from North Carolina, in 1760 a sloop laden with lumber, in 1771 a cargo vessel from Bermuda were a few of the wrecks on the Marshfield shore in the 18th century.

Elijah Brooks and George Tilden built for about ten years: in 1837, the schooner Huron, 106 tons, lost a few years later on a trip to Nassau; the schooner Lewis Bruce, 118 tons, of Provincetown; in 1838, the schooner Erie, 113 tons; the brig Michigan and the schooner Roanoak in 1840, the brig Joseph Balch, 153 tons, Boston; in 1845, the brig Allen Klog, 206 tons. This was the last vessel built in this yard. She was a fast one and employed in the fruit trade from Boston. On one trip from Malaga to New York and back the time was 62 days, the quickest passage of the times.

The William Taylor Yard belonged to William Taylor and Israel Carver. Mr. Taylor's services as a builder were much esteemed. There was built at their yard in 1818 the schooner Lake, 74 tons; in 1850, the schooner Horn. Israel Carver built the Souther in 1860; together the owners of the yard built the Edie Little, 70 tons.

White's Ferry Yards—As early as 1705 we find there were built the sloop Mary & Abigail, 40 tons, owners, Bethia Little, Isaac Little and John Henshaw; in 1711, the ship Taunton Merchant, 70 tons; in 1713, the sloop Blossom, 30 tons.

The next vessels built here of which any account has been found were those built by Simeon Keene, and later by his sons, Simeon and Benjamin. Isaac Keene was also interested in a few. Simeon Keene built in 1787 the schooner Neptune, 64 tons, and 1789, the sloop Industry, 60 tons; in 1793, the brig Dolphin, 122 tons, of Boston; in 1794, the ship Superb, 335 tons, of Boston; in 1795, the brig Despatch, 139 tons, of Portsmouth; in 1805, the schooner Saturn, 107 tons, owned by Benjamin and Isaac Keene, and Samuel Baker of Marshfield; in 1820, the North River Packet. Luke, William and Samuel Hall were the sons of Luke and Anna Tuels Hall. They built in Marshfield together from 1825 to 1828 when Samuel, being then twenty-eight, left the business. Luke and William continued until 1837, from which time until 1840 Luke built alone. The schooner Dray came first; in 1825, the schooner Daniel, 72 tons; the schooner Triton, 75 tons; the brig Smyrna, 172 tons, of Boston; in 1827, the brig Waverly, 232 tons. Luke and William built the brig Newton, 283 tons, of Boston; in 1838, a whaler out of New Bedford into the Pacific Ocean.

the service of the Province, and despatched on various important missions.

The fac-simile above is of an autograph of his, written in his younger days, about twenty years before his death. A story is told of him, the circumstances of which happened at one time, when the colonel, with two other Duxbury men (Nathaniel Chandler and William Brewster,) accompanying him, went on a visit to Gen. Pepperell, who was then at Saco, Me. The Colonel's visit was of a public nature. Falling into a conversation, the General observed, in a quaint style, that they were three of the most extraordinary men he ever met with. "Brewster," said he, "is famous for telling extraordinary stories, Chandler excels as a singer; but Alden, he is a first rate statesman."—K.

1740. A company was enlisted in the county, to serve in the expedition against the Spanish West Indies, under Admiral Vernon, by Capt. John Winslow, whose original muster-roll on parchment is now before me,* and which I copy. Of the 500 men sent in the expedition by Massachusetts, not more than 50 returned, many having fallen victims to the prevailing tropical fevers. Several Duxbury men will be noticed in their number.

This information refers to JOSIAH KEEN III -- son of Josiah Keen, Jr. and Lydia Baker. He is the second child named Josiah III (first died young). However, we are following Nathaniel Keen, of the same parents, in our direct lineage.

HEZEKIAH KEEN'S ACCOUNT BOOK WITH FAMILY RECORDS

By George Ernest Bowman

In the illustration facing this page are reproduced two pages of an old account book, now the property of the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, but originally owned by Hezekiah Keen, of Duxbury, Mass., who was born in 1702 and died in 1770. The pages face each other, in the original, but it was necessary to photograph them separately, on account of the binding of the book.

These two pages contain the only known evidence that Josiah Keen, of Marshfield and Duxbury, Mass., married Abigail Little, of Marshfield, who was the daughter of Thomas Little (of Plymouth and Marshfield) by his wife Anna Warren, daughter of Richard Warren, the Mayflower Passenger.

I called attention to this old account book in the July, 1906, issue of this magazine. One of Hezekiah Keen's great-great-grandsons, Mr. Abdon W. Keene of Winthrop, Mass., the owner of the book, had loaned it to me, so I could make, for the Massachusetts Society's files, exact copies of the family records entered by various members of the Keen family, beginning with Hezekiah Keen himself and including Mr. Abdon W. Keene.

In 1923 I suggested to Mr. George H. Partridge, of Minneapolis, Minn., then recently elected a member of this society and a descendant of Hezekiah Keen, the importance of ensuring the preservation of this valuable genealogical record by securing it for the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants, and he agreed to finance its purchase.

As Mr. Abdon W. Keene had retired, and was living at Camden, Me., I made a trip to that town to see him, and after a long correspondence with him the book finally became the property of the Massachusetts Society, in 1925, as a gift from Mr. George H. Partridge.

The book has side covers of a dark hard wood, 13 by 8⅛ inches, and about three-eighths of an inch thick at the back, and one-fourth of an inch at the front edge.

The back was made of two pieces, each 13 inches tall, 2¾ inches wide at the top, and 2¼ inches at the bottom. The inner strip is about three eighths of an inch thick, and the outer is seven sixteenths.

The covers are fastened to the back by hand-made iron hinges about 7¾ inches long, riveted to the wood.

Inlaid on the back is the monogram "HK", in brass; and "Hezekiah Keen", in brass, was inlaid on the inside of the front cover, at the top.

Originally the book could be locked by a brass clasp and staple, but the padlock was lost long ago.

An old fashioned separate index of twenty-four pages, 12¼ by 3¾ inches, containing also a few business notes, is laid loosely in the book.

A few leaves have been lost, but there are still 478 pages, 214 of them blank, except for the page numbers.

Numerous entries by Hezekiah Keen testify to the ownership of the book.

On the first page, in a bold hand, he wrote, in red ink:

"Hezekiah Keen of Duxbrough".

At the top of the fifth page we find, written in red ink:

"Hezekiah Keen his Hand Ret By me With the Sprengs of my one fengers & ye veains of my one Hands In April ye 12th: 1763".

At the top of the third page from the end of the book we find:

"Hezekiah Keen His Book Ret by me in March ye 10th 1763 who then Leved in Duxbrough & then was In his Sixty first year of my age &c

"Hezekiah Keen His Book Ret in March 1763

"This is my Name Ret By me In my one Hous"

On the last page is written:

"Hezekiah Keen in ye 63 year of my Age & I was Born In August ye 6 old Stile Day 1702 & In new Stile august ye 17 1702"

Literal copies of all family records entered in the book are here printed, the page of the original being indicated in brackets.

I have read several reports --"Annals of Oxford" and "Town Register of Oxford, Hebron, Minot" -- that Joshua Keen was accompanied to Maine with Snow Keen, jr. Snow Keen's children are listed in Pembroke's VR as: THANKFULL, b. October 30, 1757, MOLLE (MOLLY), b. October 2, 1761, REBECA, b. August 26, 1763, LYDIA, b. September 28, 1765, LUCE (LUCY), b. July 2, 1767, SNOW, b. January 27, 1770, SNOW, bp. June 30, 1771, CENEA, b. December 18, 1773, and HANNAH, b. October 24, 1777.

It is clear by the reports above that Joshua and Abigail settled in Shepardsfield -- now HEBRON -- Maine in June of 1780 and according to the aforementioned births of Snow Keen's children, the Snow Keen "credited with service in the Revolution" had to be Snow, sr and not jr. I believe that Snow Keen jr would have been too young b. 1771 to have been in the Revolution. The "Annals of Oxford" have recorded Snow's marriage to Sarah Bradford c. 1795 (making him 24) and lists their children. Who accompanied Joshua?

Hezekiah Keen's account states that another daughter was born to Nathaniel and Thankful, "Elethear" who apparently died young.

Joshua and Abigail of Pembroke, Massachusetts, moved to Maine in June of 1780 with their children ranging in ages of 3 years to 22 years. The "Annals of Oxford" seem to mix up Joshua sr with Joshua jr, but it is possible that both father and son served in the Revolution, senior being about 46 and junior being about 18. Read it and form your own opinion. The Sprague Keen mentioned is not Joshua's son as speculated.

Regarding the name "Snow". Joshua's wife, Thankful Winslow was the daughter of Capt. Nathaniel and Lydia (Snow) Winslow. She was Nathaniel Keen's third cousin, granddaughter of Josiah Snow, great-granddaughter of Abigail Warren Keen and great-great grandaughter of Richard Warren -- Mayflower passenger -- who was also Nathaniel's great-great grandfather. In those days, families used family names sometime for their children, thus, "Snow" - "Sprague - etc.

We are following the lineage of JOSHUA KEEN (G5)

226. CAPT. NATHANIEL [3], [29] Nathaniel [2], Kenelm[1],) b. 29 July 1667, Marshfield, Mass; d. 13 March 1736, M., and was buried there, in the Winslow burying ground. Administration on his estate was granted 30 March, in the year 1736. He resided principally in Marshfield, though certain deeds of land indicate that he was in Shawomet, or Swansey, at least a portion of the time, from "1700 to 1709". [Rev. Lucius R. Paige, D.D.]. He was called "Captain" , probably from the fact that he "commanded, early in the last century, the sloop Seaflower engaged in freighting oak wood from Careswell Creek to Boston. The price then, at Careswell, was seven shillings per cord. This was consigned to Philip Haskins, Wharfinger, Mr. Bird and Mr. Archer, at an advance of seven shillings per cord. This post of maritime command, we suppose, was as high as the charge of a clipper ship to California is at the present time" [Memorials of Marshfield, p. 29]. He m. at Marshfield, by Rev. Samuel Arnold, 1692, according to Marshfield Rec., to Lydia Snow, b.1672, daughter of Josiah and Rebecca (Baker) of Marshfield and gr. dau. of Anthony and Abigail (Warren), who was the youngest dau. of Richard Warren who came in the Mayflower. "Tradition says that she brought her first husband's children with her to Marshfield," and as two of her daughters afterwards married her step-sons it is probably correct. She had also a son John, who removed to Rutland, Vt. Miss Thomas of M. writes, "She was called the white grandma, because of her beauty." She d. 28 Nov. 1778, aged 97, Marshfield. the "ANNALS OF OXFORD" and the "Town Register of Oxford, Hebron and Minot" list the arrival of Joshua and Abigail to Shepardsfield, ME (later HEBRON). The records indicate that he came with Snow Keen (see G4) The town register indicates that Joshua Keen, Joshua Keen jr, Nathaniel Keen and Sprague Keen all served in the Continental Army.

The Annals of Oxford lists Joshua Keen as one of the first settlers of Hebron, Maine. These records also indicate both Joshuas as landholders. The first U.S. census (1790) lists Joshua Keen with four males and six females in the household. Snow Keen, in the same census, lists 2 males and eight females in the household. The census included heads of families in the total. Now in G4 I listed Snow Keen's children (7 females and 1 male), adding Snow, Sr. and his wife Rebeckah, you get the number in the census. Ergo! Snow Keen, Joshua's brother, was the Snow Keen that accompanied him to Maine with their children. In the 1800 Maine census, Joshua and Joshua jr and Snow Keen and Snow Keen jr are listed as heads of households in the Cumberland county census. The 1810 Maine census lists Joshua living in Turner in Oxford county and Joshua jr living in Poland in Cumberland county. Joshua Keen is listed twice in the 1820 Maine census, both living in Hebron in Oxford county. This has to be Joshua sr and his grandson, Joshua III since Joshua jr died in 1818. (continued - reverse page)

KEEN GENEALOGY G5 (continued) JOSHUA AND ABIGAIL KEEN

However, the 1820 Maine census lists Seth Keen (one of our grandfathers) living in Middleboro in Plymouth county. The 1830 census lists him as living in Oxford in Oxford county and Joshua III also living in Oxford. By this time, both Joshuas in our lineage have died, sr in 1823 and jr in 1818. The 1840 Maine census lists Seth and Seth jr both living in Oxford in Oxford county. The 1850 Maine census lists only one Seth Keen living in Poland in Cumberland county. Seth Keen sr died in 1841.

The Massachusetts and Maine census' for the years 1790-1850 proved very helpful in sorting out some of the questions that might arise. The genealogy sheets are much more accurate because of the census records.

We are following the lineage of JOSHUA KEEN jr (G6)

The following letter which was in the possession of a Lizzie H. Marshall of Hebron (Maine) which Elsie Keene of Poland, Maine copied learning of the letter at a Keene reunion. Elsie speaks of writing to Seth Keen of Harrison, Maine after reading in the paper (Portland?) about him celebrating his 90th birthday. This would have to have been about 1905 as he died in 1907. She speaks of Lindbergh's feat of crossing the Atlantic "three years ago", so she must have written the narrative in 1930. A copy of her research is in the Augusta, Maine State Library and the Portland, Maine Historical Library.

Now, back to the letter written by Joshua Keen -

BRISTOL CAMPS, FEBRUARY 4, 1777

"Loving wife,

These few lines are to inform you that I and my son is well, and thanks be to God for it. Hoping that these few lines may throw the blessing of God upon you. I enjoyed the same. I have nothing of mark to write to you. Hoping in a short time that instead of writing I shall be able to inform you with my tung and not my writing. I must inform you that I would have you send to Captain Winslow by Capt. Ford for the money that is due to Joshua, and take this order and give to Capt. Ford and by that he will get the money. Asa my brother hurt himself about a week gone but has got better. Remember me to all enquiring friends. Joshua desires to be remembered to you and all his friends. It is a general time of health in the Camp, and so to conclude I must subscribe myself your friend and loving husband until death makes a final separation.

Joshua Keen"

The War Department in Washington advised Elsie Keene "the records show that one Joshua Keen , rank not stated, served in the Revolutionary War, in Capt. Increase Robinson's company Massachusetts militia. His name appears on the receipt roll dated Pembroke, April 27, 1777, under the holding, ' We, the subscribers have severally received of Capt. Increase Robinson the whole of our wages bourne on his Bay Roll for the campaign to Bristol in Rhode Island in 1776, as witness our hands'", etc. From this we may deduce that the Bristol Camps were in Rhode Island. The son he speaks of is Joshua jr who also served in the Revolutionary War.

All of these birth records are on microfilm at the Maine State Archives in Augusta, Maine and are hand-written accounts of the children of Joshua jr and Lydia Crooker. The children of Seth and Sally Keen are also in the same files.

Joshua Keen jr served in the Revolutionary War and is listed as a Private on a Widow's Pension document listing Lydia as his widow and his death in 1818. She received the sum of $29.44 per annum from March 4, 1836 to March 4, 1841. The document is signed by the Secretary of War and is dated "this fourth day of June, one thousand, eight hundred and forty seven." This helps to confirm that Joshua sr was a 2nd Lieutenant and Joshua jr was a Private in the Mass. Regiments of the Continental Army (Annals of Oxford). Military records were obtained from National Archives.

We are following the lineage of SETH KEEN (G7)

Hebron is situated on the south-eastern border of Oxford County. Buckfield bounds it on the north, Oxford on the south, Paris on the west, and Turner and Minot, in Androscoggin County, on the east. The form of the town is that of an irregular triangle, with its base toward the north, having its two sides about 7¾ miles in length, and its base about 5¼ miles. The surface of the town is generally hilly. Three bear the names, Greenwood Hill, Ben Burrow's Hill and Streaked Mountain,—the last being the highest. It is situated in the north-west corner of the town, and is a large and rather smooth elevation rising to a height of nearly 1,600 feet above the plain. Its surface shows a large proportion of solid rock, covered in such a way by soil and shrubbery as to cause the appearance from which it gains its name. The numerous ledges are generally a coarse granite, and the soil has a good sprinkling of stones. Some of the hills are rocky and precipitous, while good farms are found on the declivities of others. All the usual farm crops are cultivated, but that of hay has probably a larger value than any other The principal body of water is Matthews Pond, on the south-west border of the town; which has a length of one mile, and a width of about one-fourth of a mile. The chief streams are Bog Brook and the Middle Branch. The small water-power of the town is mainly furnished by the outlet of Matthews Pond. The Rumford Falls and Buckfield Railroad runs through the town.

The territory constituting the town of Hebron was granted by Massachusetts to Alexander Shepard, Jr., of Newton, Mass., in March, 1777, in return for a chart of a coast survey in which Mr. Shepard had assisted. The survey was said to have been made by an Englishman, and completed just at the time when the colonies began to pay English demands in a currency less acceptable than cash; and he abruptly quitted America, but left his chart behind him. Subsequently Shepard extended his claim over the neighboring isolated tracts, until it embraced above 36,000 acres. He with Dr. Goddard and John Greenwood were subsequently influential settlers of the region. The first settler was probably John Caldwell of Ipswich, and the first resident family that of Capt. David Buckman, in 1778. In 1780 and the year following, came among others, Messrs. Barrows, Bumpas, Benson, Cushman, Weston, Keen, Richmond, and Thayer. The original name of the plantation was Shepardstown, from the proprietor, though the early settlers called it Bog Brook Plantation. The incorporation under the present good old Hebrew name was granted March 6, 1792. It then extended some 15 miles, from Norway to Turner, and being inconvenient for voters, in 1829 the south-westerly part was set off to form Oxford. Among the settlers who have rendered good service to the town should be mentioned Deacon William Barrows, who gave his efforts in aid of many good works, and was mainly influential in the founding of Hebron Academy This institution was incorporated Feb. 10, 1804; and has been and still remains a flourishing and useful school. This town is the birth-place of Albion K. Parris, governor of the State from 1832 to 1837, and others who have proved valuable men in their various callings. Hebron sent 65 men to do battle for the Union, of whom 16 were lost. The town has one citizen near his hundredth year.

The Baptists and Free Baptists have neat and commodious church-edifices here. There are seven public schoolhouses in Hebron, valued at $2,400. The valuation of estates in 1870 was $222,180. In 1880 it was $189,113. The population in 1870 was 744. In 1880 it was 601.

THE ANNALS OF OXFORD

BY MARQUIS FAYETTE KING
published by New England Historical Press
in collaboration with Oxford (Maine) Historical Society

Much of the Keen genealogy (our lineage) is written on pages 213-216. This book can be found in most Maine libraries. I found this in the Augusta, Maine State Library (Robert R. Keen - 1992)

KEEN.

JOSHUA KEEN deposed in 1815, that he was 84 years of age, that in June, 1780, he was in Shepardsfield, for the purpose of taking land, and was informed by John Greenwood, the agent of Mr. Shepard, who accompanied him, that a lot he wanted, had already been taken by Asa Bearce and further, he was knowing to the said Bearce's falling trees on the lot in 1782. Mr. Keen came from Pembroke, Mass. and this deposition proves him to have been one of the first settlers of Hebron. He was a Lieutenant in Capt. Ford's, Pembroke co. in 1776, and Sprague Keen, whose name appears in the army rolls of 1779, age 20, light complexion, 5ft 7in, stature, was most likely, his son. In 1801, he sold to his son Nathaniel one undivided half, in common, of the south west ends of lots 1 and 2 of the 8th range, probably his homestead, although he appears to have had other holdings in Hebron. He m. Dec. 14, 1756, Abigail Eams, who was b. Mar. 29, 1736, and d. Oct. 25, 1823. He was b. Dec. 14, 1730, and d. Feb. 10, 1823.

SNOW KEEN, Jr. son of Snow and Rebecca (Burbank) Keen of Pembroke, is credited with service in the Revolution; he evidently came to Shepardsfield with Joshua, and had the other ends of lots 1 and 2 of the 8th range, and "bounded southeasterly on Sylvester line".

By wife Sarah, he had, as per Hebron records; Deborah Bradford, b. Sept. 18, 1795; Betty, b. Sept. 29, 1798, m. 1819, Adnah Gilmore of Turner; Snow, b. Feb. 28, 1801, d. young; Moses, b. Sept. 6, 1805; Snow, b. Dec. 13, 1808, and Asa, b. July 7, 1812.

JOSHUA KEEN, Jr. son of Joshua, had lot 2 in the 3d range, a part of which he sold to Charles Bearce, in 1795; wife Lydia joined in the conveyance. On the Mass. rolls of the soldiers of the Relvolution, and is described as 5ft. 6in. in stature, light complexion, and 19 years of age in 1779.

REF: TOWN REGISTER of OXFORD, HEBRON, MINOT
PUB: H.E. MITCHELL CO., BRUNSWICK, ME. 1906
FOUND IN AUGUSTA, ME. STATE LIBRARY

Edmund Hayes settled just north of Oxford village. Robert Hilborn of Burlington, N. J., moved from Portland to Hebron about 1787, but soon removed into Minot. John Hicks, Thomas Hill and Henry Holbrook occupied pioneer lots here. Seth T. the son of Henry Holbrook, became a prominent stock dealer and breeder, and a highly respected citizen. Job Holmes, and his sons, Job Jr., Thomas, Bartlett and James were land holders in Hebron, the father having bought lot 9, range 6, 2d div. in 1786, and the three latter bought lots in the vicinity in 1797. Alfred Hood, a prominent citizen, came to Craigie's Mills before 1820. Joseph Hutchinson, son of Stephen, a soldier of the Revolution, and father of Rev. Joseph, was an early settler in Hebron.

Josiah Jackson and Samuel Jenkins, Jr., probably came to the town early in the last century. Wm. Jordan settled near the Otisfield line.

Joshua Keen was in Shepardsfield in 1780 for the purpose of selecting a homestead. He came from Pembroke, Mass. Snow Keen, Jr., from the same town, evidently came with Joshua. Joshua Jr., Nathaniel, and probably Sprague Keen, were sons of Joshua. All of these men served in the Continental Army. Col. Samuel Hall King, born in Paris in 1799, probably came to Craigie's Mills about 1820. He was a colonel in the U. S. Army, from which he was honorably discharged in 1833. His family removed to Portland in 1845. A son, Marquis Fayette King, has served as mayor of Portland, and four years on the governor's council. Dr. Henry M., another son, is an eminent divine. Alonzo King

Note at the bottom of this page that Marquis Fayette King is mentioned. He wrote the "Annals of Oxford", a history of the County of Oxford, Maine, which has much about Keen family.

Although there were other Keen(e) families in Maine, we are interested in Joshua Keen(e) jr and his uncle, Snow Keene who are listed in the Cumberland County 1790 Census at Shepardsfield Plantation. This is another case of misspelled names by the census taker or maybe they did not know the spelling. In any case, I added the jr to distinguish him from his father. The one we are interested in (G-6) who settled in what later became Hebron. Both men were farmers and had big families. Joshua's children were all born in Hebron according to VR Maine Archives (Augusta).

NOTE* THE 1820 CENSUS INDICATES TWO (2) JOSHUA KEEN FAMILIES. THE LINEAGE IS -- JOSHUA KEEN b. 1730 d. 1823 (93)
JOSHUA KEEN jr b. 1758 d. 1818 (60)
JOSHUA KEEN III b. 1785 d. 1859 (74)

THIS WOULD MAKE THE 1820 CENSUS CORRECT, SINCE JOSHUA jr WAS DEAD AT THE TIME LEAVING ONLY TWO JOSHUAS TO BE COUNTED.

JOSHUA jr IS THE LINEAGE WE ARE FOLLOWING SINCE HE IS THE FATHER OF SETH KEEN b. JULY 3, 1787 AND CONTINUES OUR LINEAGE.

IT SHOULD BE NOTED THAT THE SPELLING IS WHAT WAS ON THE CENSUS SHEETS. I FEEL THAT WHEN CENSUS TAKERS CAME AROUND AND ASKED FOR NAMES -- "How do you spell that?" -- THE SPELLING GIVEN WAS EITHER THE WAY THEY KNEW HOW TO SPELL IT OR THE CENSUS TAKER PUT IT DOWN THE WAY HE THOUGHT IT SHOULD BE. I FOUND DIFFERENT SPELLINGS OF THE SAME PERSON'S NAME WHILE GOING THROUGH THE MASSACHUSETTS AND MAINE ARCHIVES AND ALSO OTHER REFERENCE BOOKS OR ARTICLES. THE SAME PROBLEM EXISTS WITH MARRIAGE, DEATH AND BIRTH RECORDS. I BELIEVE THAT OFTENTIMES THE PERSON DID NOT KNOW HOW TO SPELL THEIR NAME (ILLITERATE). MANY EARLY SETTLERS WERE FARMERS WITH LITTLE OR NO EDUCATION.

THERE ARE SOME KEEN(E) FAMILIES LISTED IN THE 1850 MASS. CENSUS AND MANY ARE IN THE PLYMOUTH COUNTY AREA. I BELIEVE MANY OF THE KEENES ARE ALSO OUR DESCENDANTS AND THAT NAMES WERE SPELLED WITH AND WITHOUT THE(E) IN IT. IT IS INTERESTING TO NOTE THE MANY KEEN FAMILIES IN MAINE AS OPPOSED TO MASSACHUSETTS. I'M SURE SOME OF YOU WILL NOTE THE SPELLING OF FIRST NAMES -- SOMETIMES IT WAS ATROCIOUS. IT WAS DURING THE MID-1850'S THAT MIDDLE NAMES CAME INTO VOGUE -- PROBABLY BECAUSE OF THE REPITITION OF FIRST NAMES MAKING IT DIFFICULT TO IDENTIFY A CERTAIN PERSON. ALSO NOTE THAT I HAVE ADDED jr WHEN NECESSARY TO DISTINGUISH A FATHER FROM A SON. IT IS EVIDENT THAT MANY DID NOT USE THE jr OR sr or JOHN I, JOHN II, OR JOHN III. NOTE HOW OFTEN THE SAME NAME WAS USED IN THE FAMILIES -- COUSINS, UNCLES, FATHERS, GRANDFATHERS, ETC. ALL HAVING THE SAME FIRST NAME. HENCE, A MIDDLE NAME TO INDIVIDUALIZE PEOPLE. JUST SOME THOUGHTS ON THE SUBJECT.

IN THE CENSUS INDEXES, I HAVE INCLUDED THE NAME KEENE BECAUSE -- TO ME -- IT IS OBVIOUS THAT MANY OF THE KEEN(E) FAMILY ARE IN OUR LINEAGE. IT APPEARS THAT BECAUSE OF MISSPELLED NAMES (CENSUS TAKERS, CHURCH RECORDS, BIRTH RECORDS, ETC.) MANY OF THE KEEN FAMILY JUST ACCEPTED IT AS HOW THEIR NAME WAS SPELLED AND IT REMAINED THAT WAY. WHILE GOING THROUGH THE CENSUS LISTS, I COULDN'T HELP BUT NOTICE THE OBVIOUSLY MISSPELLED NAMES, I.E., EILLIAM INSTEAD OF WILLIAM OR THE INCORRECT COUNTY, I.E., THE CENSUS LISTS HAD HEBRON LISTED IN OXFORD COUNTY AND HANCOCK COUNTY ON DIFFERENT LISTS. HEBRON HAS ALWAYS BEEN IN OXFORD COUNTY. ALSO, THE CENSUS TAKERS MUST'VE BEEN BAD SPELLERS THEMSELVES, I.E., 1840 CENSUS "ZADDE KEEN" AND THEN THE 1850 CENSUS "ZADDE KEENE". THE CENSUSES ARE LOADED WITH OBVIOUS DISCREPANCIES AND ERRORS, I.E., "SETH KEEN" 1850 CENSUS LISTED ON PAGE 048. WHILE AT THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES IN WALTHAM, MASSACHUSETTS, I FOUND SETH KEEN ON PAGE 031 AND THERE WAS NOT 048. THE CLERK ADVISED THAT THIS WAS NOT UNUSUAL. MY POINT? IF YOU CAN'T FIND IT WHERE IT SAYS IT IS, KEEP LOOKING -- CHANCES ARE YOU WILL FIND IT ELSEWHERE. I ALMOST GAVE UP SEVERAL TIMES BECAUSE I WAS VERY FRUSTRATED TRYING TO FIND THE SETH KEEN - JOSEPH KEEN CONNECTION IN MAINE. PERSERVERANCE WON OUT.

GO THROUGH THE NAMES OF OUR ANCESTORS. YOU WILL FIND IT INTERESTING.

HISTORY OF PARIS, ME.
FROM SETTLEMENT TO 1880
by Wm. B. Lapham and Silas P. Maxim pub. 1884

The War of 1812.

The war of 1812 is as memorable as the opening of a second struggle with England. The impressment of seamen and the depredations upon our commerce, together with the frequent insults to the American flag, were among the causes that led to this war. On the fourth of April an embargo was placed upon all vessels within the jurisdiction of the United States for ninety days, and on the 18th of June, war was formally declared by the President. There was strong opposition to the war by the Federalists, but the patriotism of the country was aroused and the administration strongly sustained. The stirring resolutions on page 124 of this volume, indicate the sentiments of our people upon the subject. The following were in the regular service from this town:

In Capt. Uriah Ripley's company were: Uriah Ripley, Captain; Eleazer S. Stephens, Lieutenant; Joel Fuller, Ensign.

Sergeants: Wm. Walker, Moses Allen, John Carpenter, Aaron Fuller.

370 HISTORY OF BRIDGTON

Stephen and Anne (Kimball) Weymouth settled on the next place. He was both farmer and factory worker. When they died the place came to their son Charles, a World War I veteran. He was another Kansas boy who continued to study after he started to work. He graduated in 1913 from the Lawrence Evening Industrial School. After the war he married Jean Crook who survives him and now lives on the home place. The son Gordon's place across the road is now owned by Hugh Williams.

Beyond the Weymouth place was the Clark Lewis place. Their daughter Jennie married Clarence Penley, and they built a home on the north side of their father's farm. The Penley place was sold to the school janitor, Lewis Delano and his wife Effie, who lived there for a long time. It was more recently owned by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hall. Clark Lewis was a Civil War veteran. He married Ella Hamlin, one of the Sylvester granddaughters, her mother having married William Hamlin and received the farm from her father. After the death of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis the house was closed for a long time. Now it is owned by William Gray.

Another Civil War veteran, James Keene, and his wife Sarah (Stedman) Keene, built their home on the west side of the road. Their son Walter carried on the place after his father's death. Walter was a fireman at the mills as long as they operated. Then he had a sawmill of his own. Both Walter and his wife, Helen Berry, died in the early 60's and the place is now unoccupied.

Biographical Review

Portland, ME. Library

FERNALD L. KEENE, a sagacious and enterprising farmer of Otisfield, was born in Oxford, Me., May 3, 1851, son of Lemuel C. and Martha E. (Emery) Keene. His father was a native and lifelong resident of Oxford, where he was prosperously engaged as a tiller of the soil during the active period of his life, being known as an industrious farmer and a useful citizen. He died October 21, 1865. His wife, Martha E. Emery, who was a native of Poland, Me., became the mother of four children, namely: William E., who died October 5, 1865; Fernald L.; Anna E., who died August 13, 1858; and Ida F., whose death occurred September 21, 1862—the only living child being Fernald L., the subject of this sketch. The mother died October 29, 1865.

Fernald L. Keene received his education in the common schools of Oxford; and, as his parents died when he was fourteen years old, he was thus early thrown upon his own resources. He found employment as a farm laborer in Oxford and the vicinity until reaching the age of twenty, at which time he went to Boston, and for the succeeding two years was employed at a public institution. He then spent two years as a car conductor, at the expiration of which time he secured a position as employee at the Massachusetts Insane Asylum in Worcester, where he remained for a like period. Returning to Maine, he purchased a farm in Otisfield, which he carried on for a short time, and then selling out went to Providence, R.I., where he passed the next two years as an officer at the House of Correction. Thence he went to Meriden, Conn., and was for four years superintendent of the Reform School Farm at that place, capably performing the duties of the position. In 1888 he bought his present farm in Otisfield, and has since resided here, being profitably engaged in agriculture, which he finds a congenial occupation. He owns one hundred and forty acres of well located land, upon which he has made various improvements; and besides general farming and stock raising he has for several years devoted some attention to the entertainment of summer boarders, having every convenience for their comfort, and having admirably succeeded in attracting and retaining their patronage.

On May 25, 1884, Mr. Keene was united in marriage with Miss Kate Louisa Black, who was born in Devonshire, England, August 12, 1858, a daughter of James Gibson and Mary Elizabeth (Burnett) Black. Her parents, who were prosperous farmers in England, are both now deceased, her father dying in 1866, and her mother in 1873. After their death she came to the United States to live with her sister, and was for some time a resident of Keene, N.H. She was subsequently employed at the House of Correction in Providence, R.I., where she first met her husband; and they were married in Meriden, Conn. Mr. and Mrs. Keene have one son, William L., who was born in Meriden, Conn., June 26, 1885. Mr. Keene is a Democrat in politics, and has ably filled several of the town offices. His society affiliations are with the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in Worcester, Mass. In his religious views he is a Baptist, Mrs. Keene being an Episcopalian.

OBITUARY
MORNING STAR NEWSPAPER
MAINE MARCH 24, 1841

In Poland, February 15, Mr. Seth Keen of Oxford, in the 54th year of his age. The circumstances attending bro. Keen's death were very solemn and affecting. While he was engaged in the woods, in the company with his son, in loading logs, one of the chains gave way, and a log fell on his head, which bruised it in a most shocking manner. Medical aid was immediately procured, but to no effect; he lingered in great agony during six days when death freed him from all his sufferings. The subject of this notice experienced religion many years since, and united with the F.W. Baptist church in Poland, of which he remained a faithful and devoted member, till he was called (as we doubt not) to join the church in that happy world where death can never enter. His voice was frequently heard in the congregation, and his fervent prayers and exhortations will not soon be forgotten. In this dark and mysterious dispensation of Providence, the wisdom of whose ways are beyond human comprehension, an affectionate wife has been called to part with a kind husband and ten children with a tender and provideot father. — At his funeral, a discourse was delivered by the writer to a large and attentive congregation, from Matt. 24:44, after which, his mortal remains were followed to the silent tomb, by a numerous train of weeping relatives. But the prayer of the writer is, that they may learn to trust the Lord where they cannot trace him and, indeed, Be also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the son of man cometh.

JAMES LIBBY.

This obituary was found in the micro-film library at Bates College in Lewiston, Maine. I received a copy with several obituaries on the page and it appears that the Pastor of a church (or a deacon) delivered a eulogy in the newspaper during those times. JAMES LIBBY gave another eulogy (obituary) just below this one on Seth Keen and again mentioned the F.W. (Free Will) Baptist church.

The subject of this notice experienced religion many years since, and united with the first F. W. Baptist church in Poland, of which he remained a faithful and devoted member, till he was called (as we doubt not) to join the church in that happy world where death can never enter. His voice was frequently heard in the congregation, and his fervent prayers and exhortations will not soon be forgotten. JAMES LIBBY.

In Raymond, on the 25th ult, Mrs. Ann, consort of Mr. Seth Gibbs, and daughter of Eld. Zachariah Leach, aged 27 years. Sister Gibbs was possessed of a remarkably amiable disposition from a child, but neglected religion till about one year since, when she was baptized by Eld Almon Libby and united with the F. W. B. church in South Raymond, of which she remained an acceptable member till her death.— Her sickness, which was consumption, she bore with Christian resignation, and kindly breathed out her last in the arms of her Heavenly Father. By this dispensation of God, an affectionate husband has been thus early deprived of the company of an affectionate wife; and two small children of a tender mother. An aged father, who has previously been called to follow to the tomb a wife and nine children, of a dutiful daughter, and he is now left with only one son and daughter out of a numerous family to comfort him in his declining years. A discourse was delivered at her funeral by the writer from Rev. 3:21, to a large concourse of people.—

Mourn then no more for her who's gained the prize,
Weep for yourselves and let devotion rise;
Prepare to meet her on that blissful shore,
Where pain and sin and parting are no more—
Where all will join in one harmonious lay,
And sing redeeming grace in endless day.

JAMES LIBBY.

THE FOLLOWING RECORDS WERE FOUND IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES ON MICROFILM AT WALTHAM, MASSACHUSETTS

THE MAINE STATE CENSUS FOR THE YEAR 1850 LISTS SETH KEEN ON PAGE 048, HOWEVER, THE RECORD WAS FOUND : PAGE 31. IT APPEARS THAT THE PAGES CHANGED NUMBERS FROM TIME TO TIME AS THEY ADDED RECORDS TO THE ROLL. THIS INFORMATION WAS FOUND ON MICROFILM ROLL 677 IN DRAWER T-623 AT THE WALTHAM, MA. BRANCH OF THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES. THERE IS A PRINTED PAGE NUMBER OF 49 (UPPER RIGHT HAND CORNER) AND TWO HANDWRITTEN NUMBERS LISTING PAGES 97 AND 31. THE INFORMATION WAS FOUND ON PAGE 31.

5. Joseph "	3	M			"
6. Eliza "	1	F			"

None of the above birth records could be found in the Maine Archives and no birth records for Poland, Maine could be found. The archivist stated that if they were not in the archives, they were either lost or did not exist. A check with a Poland, Me. city clerk revealed that all records were lost in a Town Hall fire in the middle 1850's which would account for the missing records. Our lineal grandfather, Joseph was three years old in 1850. I was able to trace the lineage from Joseph's death certificate which lists his father as Seth Keen and mother as Susan Emery and would have him being born in 1847. The family apparently moved to Massachusetts in the 1880's and settled in the Somerville and Everett areas. Joseph is buried in Woodlawn Cemetery in Everett.

It lists Seth as a farmer with real estate valued at $1000.00 and lists his birth place as Maine. It is difficult to read because of copying of micro-filmed records at the National Archives in Waltham, MA.

It should ne noted that Joseph's first four children were born in Poland, Maine and that Joseph, jr was born in Medford, MA c. 1879, then our grandfather, Edward Seth Keen, then another Eva G. Keen, both born in Somerville, MA.

The National Archives branch, 380 Trapelo Road, Waltham, MA, phone (617) 647-8100 lists in the 1880 national census for Massachusetts — Joseph Keen and Mary living in Somerville with their children -- Mary A., Emma J., Millie Etta, Susie (these children listed as born in Maine) and then Joseph jr is listed as born in Medford, MA. Death record indicates he was only 9 years old when he died. Since this was the 1880 census, Edward Seth Keen was not born yet. There was not an 1890 census for Maine or Massachusetts. The 1900 census for Massachusetts (film K500, T623, V66, E1207, Sheet 10, Line 53, Suffolk County) lists Joseph R. and Mary S. Keen living in Somerville with children Edward Seth and Eva G.'s death record indicates she was only 13 at time of death.

It is apparent that Joseph Keen and wife, Mary, came to Massachusetts about 1879 with four of their children, all born in Poland, Maine and their last three children were born in Massachusetts. Joseph's death certificate listed him as a Tinsmith, however, my father's sister, Violet (Keen) Augustus, of Worcester, MA advised that he spent most of his life as a plumber. She also advised that because our grandfather, Edward Seth Keen, died at age 27, there was little contact between the families and she could offer little or no information on Joseph's other descendants. I recall my father going to Boston and area to visit "Aunt Emma" (Emily J.) who lived to be 100. See death certificate.

We are following the lineage of EDWARD SETH KEEN (G10)

More than 60 Keenes hold their 68th family reunion in Poland

POLAND — The 68th annual Keene reunion was held Sunday, August 8 at the home of Fletcher and Norma Dunn in Poland. A bountiful potluck dinner was enjoyed by the family and guests. Coffee and punch were provided by the host and hostess. A social time was enjoyed prior to, during and following the lunch; the business meeting was held starting at 2 p.m. All joined in the flag salute and the Lord's Prayer. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given and accepted.

David Young was given permission to take the reunion records for micro-filming, thus better preserving them.

Birth, marriages and deaths of family members were reported and recorded.

The youngest member attending was Audrey Elizabeth, two-year-old daughter of Matthew and Shirley Keene of Hilton, NY. Julia Keene, widow of Leslie Keene of Berlin, NH was the eldest attending. Traveling the greatest distance was Anthony and Shirley Brooks of Indianapolis, IN. A close contender was Robert and Beverly Keen of Dayton, OH; this also was their first time to attend the reunion.

Census by county and states was Androscoggin-25, Cumberland-eight, Franklin-four, Kennebec-one, Oxford-six, Penobscot-two and Waldo-three. States represented, other than Maine, were New Hampshire-two, New York-four, Massachusetts-four, Ohio-two, Indiana-two, and Illinois-one.

Anthony Keene Brooks reported that his mother, Ruth Brooks, asked to be remembered to the family and sent her greetings. He also gave some information on his research for family members, especially in Maine. Robert Keen reported on some of his genealogy research, also noting that his family line still spells the family name without the last "e."

A collection was received and bills paid. The same officers were elected to serve for the coming year: president - George Keene of Bridgton; vice president - Jon Keene; secretary - Denise Keene, both of Westbrook, and treasurer - Merna Bonney of East Livermore. It was voted to meet the second Sunday in August in 1994, tentative meeting place at the home of George and Betty Keene in Bridgton. If this is not feasible, the officers will decide on a place and it will be in the announcement mail-out next year. A rising vote of thanks was given the host and hostess, Fletcher and Norma Dunn.

About 60 Keene's and guests attended. They were: Elia and Rod McAllister of Locke Mills; Daniel Keene, Florence Keene, Betty Keene, and Shirley Keene of Auburn; Ed Keene and Lorraine Brown of Windham; Harold Keene and Fran Fitzgerald of Passadumkeag; Matthew, Shirley, Ashlea and Audrey of Hilton, NY; Martha Elkin of Springfield, Illinois; Julia and Gertrude Keene of Berlin, NH; Clara Keene of Canton; Geneva Hackett, Margaret Brissette, and Richard Keene of Mechanic Falls; Fletcher and Norma Dunn, Norrine Keene, and Frances Jordan of Poland; Dane and Brenda Tripp of Poland Spring; Walter and Elizabeth Bragg of West Paris; Paul Felker of North Waterford; Herbert and Eula Felker and Ruth Bean of Oxford; Bob and Nancy Keene Blue of Lexington, MA; Jay and Arlene Hoar of Temple; Patricia Keene of Lewiston; Clayton A. and Pauline Keene of Farmington; Jim and Alice Keene, David, Betty, Amy and Carrie Young of Danville; George and Elizabeth Keene of Bridgton; Shelly and Bill Vaughn of Belfast; Jonathan and Denise Keene, Karen and Susan Littlefield of Westbrook; Robert and Beverly Keen of Dayton, OH; Charles and Gilda Keen McCauley of Peabody, MA; Shirley and Anthony Keene Brooks of Indianapolis, IN; Elery Keene of Winslow; and Malcolm and Merna Bonney of East Livermore.

ADVERTISER DEMOCRAT
THURSDAY AUGST 25, 1994

BRIDGTON — The 69th annual Keene Reunion was held recently at the home of George and Betty Keene in Bridgton. A potluck dinner was enjoyed by all at noontime, with coffee and cold beverages donated by the host, hostess and family.

Following lunch, a business meeting was called to order by President George Keene. All joined in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and the Lord's Prayer. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and accepted.

The youngest member attending was Susan Littlefield, daughter of Jon and Denise Keene of Westbrook. The eldest was Helen Keene Curtis of Mechanic Falls and traveling the greatest distance was Robert Keen of Dayton, Ohio, and his sister, Patricia Keen Stonerock of Union, Ohio.

The reunion voted to purchase a new registration book, also an old Keene family Bible.

Officers elected for the coming year were: President, George Keene of Bridgton; Vice President, Jonathon Keene of Westbrook; Secretary, Denise Keen, also of Westbrook and Treasurer Merna Keene Bonney of East Livermore.

It was voted to meet at the same place in 1995, on the second Sunday in August, with a potluck dinner at noon.

The suggestion to have a silent auction was accepted as a different activity for the 70th reunion.

A county by county and states, other than Maine, was taken. They included: Androscoggin, nine; Cumberland, 11; Franklin, two; Oxford, three; Kennebec, two; Waldo, three; New Hampshire, four; Massachusetts, two; Ohio, two and two visitors. Each person attending introduced himself and gave a brief family history.

Those attending were: Jay and Arline Keene Hoar of Temple; Jack and Sylvia Keene Weymouth; George and Elizabeth Keene of Bridgton; Ernest and Linda Keene of East Hebron; Herbert and Eula Conant Felker, Rodney Spiller of Oxford; Bill and Shirley Keen Vaughn and Maghen Vaughn, Belfast; Elroy and Helen Keene Curtis and Richard Keene, Mechanic Falls; Frances Jordan, Fletcher and Norma Conant Dunn, Poland; Bob and Nancy Keene Blue, Lexington, NH; David and Terri Keene Allen, Reymer, NH; Jonathan and Denise Keene, Karen and Susan Littlefield, Westbrook; Robert Keen, Dayton, OH; Patricia Keen Stonerock, Union, OH; Heather Steward, North Bridgton; Carrie Skiffington, Oakland; Walter and Elizabeth Bragg, West Paris; Malcolm and Merna Keene Bonney, East Livermore.

Edward and Bessie were living at 36 High Street in Everett, MA in 1912. Violet (Keen) Augustus gave me newspaper clippings of her father and also some old photos of Edward, Bessie and Ernest. Edward was an entertainer (death certificate lists "performer") and apparently was well known in the local entertainment field. I also have Edward's date book (performance dates) -- listing dates, times and cities of performance. He apparently had a pleasant singing voice. My father (Ernest) was seven when Edward died, so probably didn't remember too much about his father. After being widowed, Bessie married George Walter Smith of Nova Scotia, Canada, and they had a daughter ORA (Wallace) who died in Malden, MA on September 12, 1992 and is buried in Woodlawn Cemetery in Everett.

Ernest Ebenezer Towle was the son of Ebenezer Towle, however, it's unknown at this time if Ebenezer and Eliza had more children. It is more than likely there were siblings of Ebenezer and Eliza along with children of Ernest and Lydia, but it is unknown at this time. If anyone in the family reads this and has pertinent information regarding the Towle family, I would appreciate being advised.

Theatrical Notes

AT COOK'S.

For the first three days of this week the manager of this popular vaudeville house announces a fine program.

A very novel act in the way of a single will be that of Miss Virginia Huber champion lady whistler. This artist comes direct from New York and no doubt will make a big hit while here.

The feature act will be the Cole Trio, comedy acrobats. They go through a line of very clever stunts and keep the audience laughing all the time.

Ed. Keene is a black-face comedian who has a refined singing and talking act

ACTOR KEEN OF EVERETT DEAD

After an illness of three weeks, Edward Keen, well known as a comedian in vaudeville, died at his home at 58 High street, Everett, Wednesday. He was 27 years old. His father and mother, Joseph R. and Mary S. Keen, a widow and three children survive him. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be in Woodlawn cemetery.

PICTURES CHANGED DAILY

Casino Theatre

Good pictures, fine vaudeville and the coolest house in the city was the verdict of patrons of the Casino theatre yesterday afternoon and Black in their eccentric talking and dancing act, kept the audience in a roar of laughter. Ed. Keene, blackface comedian, is extremely good, and his singing is the hit of the entire show. Maron and Lee hand-to-hand balancers, are the best that have played a popular priced house in some time. Ollie Parkins, character change comedienne, was well received and sang and danced well. Mr. Morrison rendered the illustrated songs, the pictures for the first three days are extremely good. "The Writing on the Wall" is a good dramatic picture, with plenty of excitement and action. "The Biter Bit" and "In Love with the Chercoal Man" are two good, clean comedies that hoot the audience in roars of laughter. "The Sheriff's Daughter," a Western picture, full of action and has plenty of excitement. It is well staged and the acting is extremely good. The work done by a collie dog brings forth well-shaped applause.

Ernest Howard Keen was married six times -- Nancy, Helen, Isabel, Janet, Mildred and Dorothea. He is the father of eleven children with Nancy and one child with Mildred. His children always celebrated his birthday on October 30 and he never corrected us. His birth certificate states October 3. The birth record of his son, Ernest HOWELL Keen jr was never corrected. Carol Bertram was named after the doctor at time of delivery Bertram Carroll, and my father indicated he wanted him named Kenneth, but never corrected birth records. He was called "Kenny" by parents and siblings until long into his adulthood, later known as Bert. I was unable to locate a marriage certificate, however, Ernest and Nancy's divorce proceeding state they were married in Woburn, MA November 21, 1926.

Reuben Small, of our mother's lineage, arrived in Tilt Cove, Newfoundland, c. 1810 possibly from Cornwall or Somerset area of England. He relocated in Wild Cove where his family was born and raised. Later information speculates that he may have come from Scotland. No further information as of this date.

Note the different spellings of the same name Pernniah, etc. It was either due to illiteracy or whoever recorded the information didn't know how to spell, either. Middle names did not come into vogue until the middle 1800's. However, many children who had two names given to them at birth, were often called by the middle name. Many births, deaths and marriages were usually recorded by the local clergyman and they spelled names phonetically many times, which of course, resulted in different spellings of the same name.

NOTES

ERNEST AGE 49

Ernie Keen can rest in peace

PHILADELPHIA JOURNAL/SATURDAY, MARCH 4, 1978

By RICK MURRAY

Ernie Keen can rest in peace.

The dream he had for his son has become reality. And, police have arrested two men and [illegible] murder.

The American Oil Co. has agreed to allow Keen's widow, Christine, to renew the lease on her husband's Amoco gas station, Broad and Pollock Sts.

Keen had always wanted his son, Ernie Jr., 18, a senior at South Philadelphia High School, to eventually take over the station.

But after his death Feb. 11, rumors spread that the oil company would not renew the family's lease.

Keen was killed when he grabbed onto the side of a car containing two men who had ordered five dollars worth of gas and sped out of the gas station without paying. He was crushed when the car rammed into a bridge abutment.

Arrested yesterday and charged with Keen's death are David Ballod, 20, and his brother, Paul, 26, whom police say have no home address.

The two are being held without bail on charges of murder, theft, auto theft, and conspiracy.

Contacted at her home yesterday, Mrs. Keen had his response about the latest news in her husband's case:

"I just wonder why my husband — a good man — should die and these two [suspects] should be allowed to live."

The Ballod brothers are known as a pair of "okay guys" in their old neighborhood along the 2800 block of S. Wanamaker Street.

Neighbors could not believe the two have been charged in the auto death of South Philly gas station operator Ernie Keen, 45.

"The boys never did any harm around here," remarked one neighbor who refused to give her name.

The brothers were arrested separately yesterday. David, at St. Agnes Hospital about 5 p.m., and Paul, at a house on the 700 block of Ermon Street at 11:45 p.m.

Another neighbor, Russell Lollom, 62, was more to the point.

"I hope they hang.

DAVID BALLOD

PAUL BALLOD

Workmen who boarded up Ernie Keen's gas station after his death may soon be taking the boards down. Company has agreed to release the station at Broad and Pollock Sts. to Keen's widow.

Violent Week In S. Phila: One Dead, Four Are Stabbed

Murder and violence stalked South Philadelphia's streets in automobiles this week as a family of 4 were stabbed by a disgruntled motorist, and a neighborhood gas station operator was crushed to death trying to prevent a driver from skipping out without paying for his gas.

On Tuesday morning, Ernest Keen, 45, the owner of Ernie and Sons Amoco Station at Broad and Pollock sts., was pinned against the wall of the Walt Whitman Bridge approach over Broad st. after he grabbed hold of a 1969 Ford Station wagon that pulled out without paying for gas he had just pumped into its tank.

ACCORDING TO witnesses, Keen pulled a ski mask off of the face of one of the 2 passengers before he was killed. The mask was found by police at the station during their investigation.

The car was found abandoned on 20th st. near Packer ave. According to police, it had been stolen Monday near 10th and Bainbridge sts. There are no suspects yet, but the police said they are looking for 2 black men.

I was born in Everett, Massachusetts at 3 Washburn Pl. and recall living at 209 Bow St. and then to Charlestown, where I remember attending Bunker Hill School and Warren School. At Warren School, (in my mind) I can still see the Bunker Hill Monument from my classroom window. At that time I did not truly realize the historical importance of where I lived. We moved to Bath, Maine in 1948 for reasons not too clear. I attended Central Grammar School in Bath, the 6th and part of the 7th grade. My mother became ill to the point of being unable to care for us, and my father, who was now living in Dayton, Ohio and was married to Isabel at that time, and brought Patricia, James, Paul, and myself to Dayton, (Bert was already in Dayton) and Janice and Maureen went to Boston to live with Gilda. I attended Jackson School in Dayton -- 7th and 8th grade and my 9th grade was at Roosevelt High School. In the meantime, our mother recovered and moved back to Boston and raised Janice and Maureen and in 1952, married Chester Durning, a man in his late 60's when she married him. I went to live with them in 1952 in Woburn, MA and completed the 10th grade at Woburn High School. Durning got me a job at Epstein's Drug Store in Scollay Square in downtown Boston after school and in the summer. I returned to Dayton in late 1953 and did not go on with my schooling. I boxed in the 1954 Golden Gloves at Memorial Hall, but my pugilistic career was short-lived. I was knocked out in the first round of my only fight. A friend found me a job at the National Cash Register Company in Dayton and I was worked as a messenger-boy for awhile. I was now living on my own and lonely. At age 17, I enlisted in the United States Marine Corps on August 3, 1954. I attained the rank of Sergeant before being honorably discharged on August 3, 1957. I was stationed in El Toro, California, Marine Air Group 33, VMF 314, and met my wife, Beverly, at a USO dance in Santa Ana, California. We were married December 8, 1956. We moved to Dayton in August, 1958 and I was accepted as a police officer for the City of Dayton, December 1, 1958. (Robert R. Keen Dayton, Ohio 1991)

I'll return, wounded cop says

By Fred Lawson
Journal Herald Staff Writer

"Is the job worth this? Here I am shot and may die for a few measly dollars."

This was the first thought Dayton Detective Robert R. Keen had after he realized he had been shot by an armed robber 11 days ago.

Then he started thinking "Who's going to take care of my kids?"

But Keen — father of four girls and a boy — says he still wants to be a policeman and is anxious "to get back to work."

"I'm a professional cop — I wouldn't be happy doing anything else," he said yesterday.

KEEN SAYS he didn't realize he had been shot and thought blood running down his pants leg "was from an injury to my rear end — maybe in a fall during the shootout or hitting my rear on a car in trying to escape the shooting."

He was talking to two store clerks following the shootout when "the pain in my stomach bent me over and I suddenly realized I had been hit."

Keen, 33, a 14-year member of the department, described his thoughts following the shooting from his bed at Miami Valley Hospital. He is recovering from a wound to the lower abdomen suffered Dec. 18 during a shootout with two men following an armed robbery of the Lawson Milk Store at 864 Valley St. He was off duty and filling in that night for another officer who worked as a partitime security guard at the store.

THE BULLET tore his bladder as it passed through his body, said Keen.

"I'm going to be as good as new when I heal, but doctors tell me that if the bullet had been an inch either way I would have been in serious trouble," said Keen.

He is recovering rapidly and expects to get to go home tomorrow. Keen says he has been told he might return to work "in six or eight weeks if everything goes as expected."

The homicide squad officer says he has been flooded with cards and letters, mostly from friends and relatives, "but many from people I don't know." He said many of the cards from strangers include messages, such as, "I am wishing you a speedy recovery" and "thanks for being a policeman and taking the risks to protect us."

And students at Allen Elementary School, which is near the store, took up a collection and sent him a check for $20, said Keen.

KEEN SAYS he was completely surprised by the shooting because "I had the drop on them and I was only 10 to 15 feet away and holding my gun on them. Suddenly, one of them raised his gun and I saw a flash."

Only one of the robbers fired — "he fired until he ran out of bullets, I thought it would never stop." And Keen says he is sure he wounded the gunman.

"I'm sure I hit him once, and maybe twice, because he fell twice — but got up each time. "I know it was slippery that night, but I'm sure I hit him. But maybe just in the arm or leg on a grazing shot," said Keen.

No suspects have been arrested in the robbery and shooting, police said.

Keen says he is sure he was hit by the first shot fired because, "I immediately ducked behind my car for cover and after that only my head and arm were exposed."

He says he has never been shot before and didn't know what to expect, but "it was a weird feeling."

"I always thought you would feel it if you were shot, but I didn't. Maybe the bullet went through so quickly, or maybe it was because it didn't hit any vital organs — or maybe it was because I was so excited at the moment."

HE SAYS he was aware his rear end hurt (it turned out the bullet went out that area), but he said he fell running behind the car "and assumed I hurt it then, or perhaps hurt it against the car."

He said he walked into the store to ask the clerks to call police and saw blood running down his pants leg.

"I still thought it was from my rear, but just then something hit me in the stomach like something grabbing my guts and twisting and I bent over with pain. At that point it dawned on me I had been shot."

Keen earlier had radioed the police dispatcher of the armed robbery in progress at the store and about that time officers arrived.

"It was the most beautiful sight in the world," he says of their arrival.

"They insisted I lay down because I had been shot, but I refused because I was afraid that if I got down I'd never get back up.

"I'M not kidding. I was scared."

He says he remained conscious in the ambulance on the "bumpy ride" to the hospital. And he remembers "the tubes being put in my stomach and nose and arm."

Keen pointed out, with a grin, that he agreed to work at the store for just one night "and that's the way it turned out — one night."

He said he didn't want to accept the job, but the officer who had the job was ill and could not find anyone else to sub for him.

Keen said he reported to the store at 8 p.m. and was within 15 minutes of quitting time when it happened about 10:45 p.m.

"I was in the back room, which had a little window I could peek through, when I saw one of the men pull his cap down over his eyes and stick a gun in a clerk's face," he recalls.

KEEN SAID he used his police radio to notify the dispatcher of the robbery "and then I went out a side door and around toward the front in order to confront the men outside and not put the clerks in danger."

He said the robbers walked out "in just a second or two. I identified myself as an officer and then one turned and shot."

He said he didn't recognize either of the robbers and believes "they may be from outside the area because I know, or have seen pictures, of most of our rogues."

Keen said he learned something from the incident — "never to be on a stakeout by myself, it's too dangerous."

Detective Robert Keen: 'I'm a professional cop'

1 of 2 suspects held in policeman shooting

Tuesday, January 23, 1973
THE JOURNAL HERALD

Dayton police are holding one of two men suspected of an armed robbery of a Lawson's store last month which resulted in the wounding of Detective Robert R. Keen, who was working there as a part-time security guard.

A warrant for the arrest of the second suspect, who is stationed at the U.S. Marine Corps base at Quantico, Va., has been sent to base officials, police reported.

Detectives are expected to go to the base later this week to return the Marine to Dayton, according to Sgt. Stanley F. Burneka, head of the police's robbery squad.

The Marine was absent without leave when he allegedly participated in the robbery of the Lawson Milk Store at 864 Valley St. last Dec. 18, according to Burneka.

Keen was shot in the stomach while trying to apprehend two suspects outside the store following the robbery. He is out of the hospital and has made a few visits to the department since the shooting, but has not returned to work.

The suspect in custody, a 19-year-old Nicholas Road man, was arrested at 2:10 a.m. Saturday in Middletown as he returned his girl friend to her home, Burneka said.

He said an investigation revealed the suspect was going with the Middletown girl and he and Detective Ralph Bantle joined Middletown officers in a stakeout of the house. The suspect offered no resistence, Burneka said.

Information linking the two suspects to the robbery of the milk store and the wounding of Keen was obtained during questioning of 12 persons recently arrested for a series of armed robberies in the city.

Suspect To Return

A second suspect in the Dec. 18 shooting of Det. Robert R. Keen waived extradition Thursday and probably will be returned to Dayton early next week, according to Lt. Richard Schulte, chief of the detective section.

The suspect, a Marine stationed at Quantico Marine base, Virginia, was arrested by the FBI. He waived extradition in a hearing there Thursday morning, Schulte said.

KEEN WAS shot as he tried to arrest two men who had just robbed the Lawson's Dairy store, 864 Valley St. One suspect was arrested in mid-January.

Police expect to file charges against both suspects next week.

Keen, a homicide detective, expects to return to work Feb. 12, pending final approval from his physician. He was shot in the stomach.

Stolen Car Sought As Holdup Clue

Dayton Police are seeking citizen help in locating a stolen 1966 Ford Galaxie convertible they think was used in an armed robbery in which homicide Det. Robert R. Keen was shot.

Lt. Richard Schulte, chief of the detective section, said that just prior to the 10:45 p.m. armed robbery Dec. 18 at the Lawson Dairy store, 864 Valley St., the car was stolen from in front of 47 Notre Dame Ave.

THE CAR, described as having a black top, brown bottom, Ohio License 7212 NR, serial number 8G 65X 138572, has not been located.

Persons seeing a car fitting that description are asked to contact Schulte, Sgt. S. F. Burneka or Sgt. Eugene Melson at the police department.

Police suspect the car may now bear a different license plate.

POLICE HAVE no suspects in the wounding of Keen, 33, who was removed from the continous care unit Sunday at Miami Valley hospital.

He is reported resting and recovering. He expects to go home this week end, but is not expected to be back to work for several weeks.

The soon-to-be President Richard Nixon on the campaign trail in 1967 at the Courthouse steps in Dayton, Ohio. On the wall is Robert Keen (with the video camera - something new at that time - at the corner of the wall) keeping an eye on the crowd during presidential security detail. Keen was assigned to protect Goldwater and L.B. Johnson during their campaigns in Dayton.

To the left are two "mug" shots of Robert Keen as a young uniformed Dayton Police Officer in the early 1960's.

Dear Sirs:

It has come to our attention that Dayton Police Juvenile Officer, Robert R. Keen is facing the prospect of medical retirement due to complications from a gunshot wound received in the line of duty some four years ago. We of the Juvenile Court staff, as a way of expressing our appreciation to him, wish to place his name in nomination for the Robert B. Jacob Award of Merit. We feel that he is deserving of this award for outstanding service to the community and cite such reasons as his willingness to exert extra effort, to place his job before personal needs, and above all, his spirit of concern in working with juveniles and their parents.

One such case in point being the Witchcraft case which Detective Keen worked on from December, 1975 until February, 1976. This case began as a routine juvenile missing report and through his diligence, resulted in adult contributing charges being filed and the eventual closing of the Witche's Cauldron store which had been a haven for runaway teens.

This officer's dedication to duty, concern and co-operation have assisted all of us in the performance of our own tasks and have likewise helped to foster a cooperative spirit between the Dayton Police Department and this Court.

We shall miss Detective Keen and feel he deserves commendation for the fine job he has done.

Sincerely,

Showbiz Through Eyes of a Cop

On the local theatrical level, the Kenley Players' summer season is drawing to a close at Memorial Hall.

Tuesday night, John Kenley's production of "Catch Me If You Can" marks the second-last show of his 12-week summer stint.

On the surface, it looks as if this season has been the the biggest boxoffice grosser of all Kenley seasons. That means more people, than ever before, have seen the usually fine fare that producer Kenley purveys at Memorial Hall each year.

"More people" bring more problems—to boxoffice help, usherettes, theater management and all the others who're known as "front of the house" folks. This category also includes Bob Keen.

Robert ("Bob") R. Keen is Kenley's official chief security officer and works the front o' the house before, during and after each Kenley show.

YOU MAY NOT recognize Bob by sight. He wears no uniform at Memorial Hall. You may know his voice. He's the guy who calls out "Places, please" Five minutes to curtain!" Bob also informs intermission loungers, like me, that the next act is upcoming. Like the "Scarlet Pimpernel," Keen's "here . . . there . . . everywhere" but not so elusive.

Bob Keen is also quite the observer—of patrons and human nature. Keen's keen eyes 'n ears stand him in good stead for his full-time profession.

Y'see, Bob's also a member of the City of Dayton's Constabulary of Police.

RECENTLY, Bob took time to jot down some notes for theatergoers. Not just for Kenley's summer patron- but for all seasons. Here are a few of 'em:

—Pick your tickets up early . . . before the day of the show if possible. If a mistake has been made, it's easier to rectify then, rather than five minutes before showtime . . .

—On busy, or possible sellout shows, have your cash or checks ready when you arrive at the boxoffice. Immediately after the transaction, BEFORE LEAVING THE TICKET WINDOW, do a complete double-check. Remember, THERE ARE NO REFUNDS once you leave . . .

—If you tell someone you'll meet them in the lobby, don't tell them "in front of the boxoffice." The congestion there is something fierce . . .

—Unlike the movies, a stage performance should be attended on time. Just because you have your tickets "in hand" does not mean you can wait till the last minute. On a total (SRO) sellout performance, there are some 2,500 other folks thinking the same thing and 2,500 ticketholders just cannot be "funneled" through just two ticket-doors at Memorial Hall in a matter of minutes . . .

Keen's perceptive notes also contained some kicky items—like this one:

"An amusing situation invariably crops up on a total sellout show when the customer is told by the boxoffice personnel, 'All we have are singles' and the customer almost-always queries, 'Are they together?' "

Ah well, as Bob Keen would sigh, that's showbiz . . .

Bob Keen: He has tips for theatergoers.

Homicide Detective Finds Kids

Too Many Slayings, His Own Close Call Brings Request for Transfer

By RON ROAT
Daily News Staff Writer

A bullet fired five months ago at Dayton Det. Robert R. Keen, 33, had a larger effect than intended by the robber fleeing the Lawson Dairy Store, 864 Valley St.

A detective who investigated bloodied bodies for two years, Keen suddenly found his own bloodied body close to death.

That event, among others, has figured heavily in Keen's growing criticisms of the shortage of police manpower and people's feelings toward death in general.

"DEATH SIMPLY appalls me," Keen said. "And it seems like people just don't care about it anymore."

Two weeks ago he was transferred at his own request. He now handles juvenile offenders and finds missing kids. It is a drastic change for a man who has solved all but three of over 80 homicide investigations he has handled.

As a result of the Dec. 18 gunshot wound in the abdomen, Keen spent two weeks at Miami Valley hospital and returned to work Feb. 12, possibly too quickly for complete recuperation.

THAT SHOOTING also has affected Keen's current disenchantement with "hard-core" police work, which involves routine encounters with armed hoodlums.

"I'm sure I'll get over it, but I get nervous around people with guns any more," he said.

The 14-year veteran of the police department said he was not idealistic when he joined the department. "I needed a job."

But during his career he came to enjoy his work, take pride in it and look forward to coming to the office in the morning.

RECENTLY, things have changed somewhat.

"Going out to the homicide scenes kind of got to me phychologically," Keen said. "I'd see how unconcerned some people were about the body, their relative, laying on the floor, there. They'd already be arguing about who will get his belongings."

Last year a man was shot to death and Keen was sent to investigate. The victim's brother walked up to Keen and said, "For crying out loud, I just buried my wife and now I've got to bury him."

POLICEMEN are supposed to be emotionally aloof on their cases, but it is difficult when they are dealing daily with the dead and their confused and saddened relatives.

And when Keen gathers evidence against a suspect, he is disappointed when the

"When you find out later the lawyers have let the man plead guilty to a lesser charge, you just get mad about it," Keen said.

KEEN'S ATTITUDE is also a victim of austerity. Policemen are at their limit, Keen says.

"Homicide is the most serious crime we have, and we have only three men handling them, plus morals, rapes, serious assaults, bomb threats, obscene phone calls and whatnot," he said. "Then we have court duty in addition to that.

"There just isn't enough time to do the job as thoroughly as we'd like. And we have more homicides this year than ever."

EVEN AFTER investigations are com-

> 'Going out to the homicide scenes kind of got to me psychologically. I'd see how unconcerned some people were about the body, their relative, laying on the floor, there. They'd already be arguing about who will get his belongings.'

But, as much as anything, Keen is tired.

The bullet wound he received Dec. 18, possibly the most significant factor in Keen's present attitude, is sapping the former active athlete of his energy. He returned to work this past week after a 2½-week rest to recover from fatigue stemming from the wound.

"I CAN'T sit down and it hurts to stand up," Keen said. "The doctor told me it was muscle problems and that I should exercise. But it is very painful."

Keen, like so many detectives, is also concerned with the unofficial responsibilities policemen carry. Citizens look to them for advice when they have no place else to turn, and policemen struggle with problems few social agencies like to handle.

The elderly wife of a homicide victim called Keen recently, for example, and told him that the brothers and sisters of her dead husband were going to take and divide his belongings, leaving her with nothing.

"SHE SAID, 'What should I do, Mr. Keen.' I told her, 'You give them nothing. That stuff is yours at least until the estate is settled. If they want something, you tell them to get a lawyer and sue you for it. And if they give you any trouble, you call us immediately.'" Keen told her.

WANTED IN HOLDUP

Cop's Bullet Topples Suspect From Rooftop

A 27-year-old man was in poor condition today in Miami Valley hospital with wounds suffered when a policeman's bullet toppled him from a 30-foot rooftop.

R. Barnes

Ralph Barnes, 27, of 1509 Tampa Ave., suffered a bullet wound of the back a few minutes after he held up an East Side grocery store and fled with $40, police said.

PTL. R. R. KEEN said he fired four warning shots before he shot Barnes during a chase across rooftops on Second St.

"When he got to the edge on Front St., Keen said, "he looked like he was going to jump. That's when I took aim and fired."

Barnes fell from the roof of the block-long International Envelope Co., 1000 E. Second St. The rear of the building is on Front St.

DET. SGT. W. K. Mortimer said Barnes admitted the 8:20 p.m. holdup at Whitey's Carry-out at 1 Springfield St.

Ptls. Keen and T. L. Davis were on their way to the scene when they spotted Barnes.

Earl Brumley, owner of the carryout, said the man came in, asked for a pack of matches and then drew a revolver. He took $10 from the register.

KEEN AND Davis, 10 blocks away at the time, spotted Barnes in a parking lot at Second and Dutoit Sts. He jumped a fence and took to the rooftops as Keen gave chase.

"I must have yelled at him 20 times," Keen said.

Officer Wounds Bandit After Roof-Top Chase

J.H. 11/3/61 By Ann Heller
Journal Herald Staff Writer

A policeman shot and critically wounded a robber last night after he chased him across rooftops along East Second street.

The wounded bandit toppled 30 feet to the ground.

Ralph Barnes, 27, of 1509 Tampa street, is in critical condition at Miami Valley hospital with one bullet wound in the back.

The shooting happened minutes after a man robbed Whitey's Carryout at 1 Springfield street.

The owner, Earl Brumley, said the man asked for a pack of matches and then drew a revolver.

He took approximately $50 in bills and change from the cash register. Brumley followed the robber down an alley while Mrs. Brumley called police.

Uniform Patrolmen R. R. Keen and T. L. Davis were about 10 blocks away when the call was broadcast. They spotted the suspect in a parking lot at Second and Dutoit streets.

Keen said Barnes ran when he saw the cruiser. The suspect jumped a fence, crawled onto a low roof and then onto a higher roof.

Davis stayed in the cruiser in order to cut the man off if he jumped. Keen started after the suspect.

"He seemed boxed in on the roof," he said. "I told him to come down, that he didn't have a chance."

The suspect ran over a 10-foot ledge to the next roof.

"I called to him again to halt," Keen said. "I must have yelled at him 20 times."

When Barnes continued to run, Keen fired two warning shots in the air and climbed to the roof.

The officer fired two more warning shots as he chased the man across the block-long building that belongs to the International Envelope Manufacturing company.

"When he got to the edge, on Front street, he looked like he was going to jump," Keen said. "That's when I took aim and fired."

The man fell from the roof.

Wounded Man Charged

A 27-year-old Dayton man, shot from the roof of a building a few minutes after a holdup at an East Side store, was charged with armed robbery yesterday.

Ralph Barnes of 1509 Tampa Ave. was charged with the $40 robbery of Whitney's Carry-out, 1 Springfield St., last Saturday.

Barnes fell from the roof of the International Envelope Co. building at 1000 E. Second St. after being shot by Ptl. R. R. Keen. The patrolman said Barnes attempted to elude him during a chase across rooftops.

Barnes was listed in poor condition at Miami Valley hospital with a bullet wound in the back.

A NOTE OF INFORMATION:

Det. Sgt. W.K. Mortimer was killed by an armed robber in 1974. He was the investigating detective in this case. Officer Talmadge Davis, was one of the biggest partners I ever had (6'4" 250 lbs.) and one of the nicest guys you could meet. He was a gentle giant. Several years later, we were dispatched to a gang fight and when we arrived, T.L. was immediately kicked in the groin by one of the rioters. After a few moments getting his breath back, T.L. became very angry and kicked the man in the groin numerous times. He had to be physically stopped. The man was so drunk, he showed no ill affects. Davis was very ashamed of himself and apologized to me many times for losing his temper. Shortly thereafter, he resigned from the Police Department because "I don't like what it's doing to me." He now farms and lives in Tennessee. He was a good man and partner. RRK

SUBJECT: Recommendation for Award of Distinguished Service Medal
to Det. R.R. Keen

Sir:

At approximately 10:45 PM on December 18, 1972, Det. R.R. Keen was working on an off-duty stakeout at the Lawson store on Valley Street because of a series of armed robberies which had taken place at these particular stores for the past few weeks. Just as the store was preparing to close for the day, two adult black male subjects entered the store and approached the two female clerks at the counter. Suspect #2 asked for a fruit drink and as one of the clerks turned to get it, suspect #1 produced a revolver and announced that it was a hold up. As the two clerks complied and surrendered the register money, Det. Keen, who was concealed in the rear room, took cognizance of the fact that if he attempted to confront the suspects in the store, in all probability it would have precipitated a shoot out, endangering the two clerks. At this point Det. Keen slipped out the rear door and ran to the front of the building and en-route contacted the dispatcher via 450 radio and reported the robbery in progress. Det. Keen observed both suspects come out of the front door and into the parking lot at which time the officer identified himself as a police officer and ordered the suspects to halt. Suspect #1 immediately swirled around and fired a shot at Keen, the bullet hitting the officer in the lower center abdomen. Det. Keen returned the fire, emptying his gun and causing the #1 suspect to fall two times in the lot, however, the suspect was not hit. Suspect #2 had already fled the area on foot. When suspect #1 fell the second time he dropped some of the money realized from the robbery which was later recovered by the investigating detectives. While down the second time Keen, seriously wounded, his weapon now empty, advanced on the fallen subject who was in possession of a loaded gun, and attempted to apprehend the suspect. The suspect, however, got up and fled the scene. Det. Keen attempted to chase the suspect but realizing his condition, went back into the store and collapsed. At this point police crews were on the scene and Keen was taken to MVH by ambulance where he was admitted in critical condition and where he hovered between life and death for several days.

As you know he made a miraculous recovery and has now returned to active duty. Both suspects have since been apprehended, arrested and identified by Det. Keen, which enabled the Robbery Squad to charge the suspects with ~~shooting to kill Det. Keen~~.

I personally feel that Det. Keen in not confronting the suspects in the store displayed extreme intelligence and thoughtfulness for the safety of the two clerks. I also feel that this officer expressed outstanding courage in this serious situation and took proper, positive action necessary in this matter, even though it nearly cost him his life. Therefore I sincerely solicit your consideration in awarding this detective the Department's highest award for the action taken by Keen exemplified his direct police professional action whether on or off duty.

Respectfully submitted,

29 of 30 Homicides Solved, But Keen's Still Looking

By WILLIAM HERSHEY
Daily News Staff Writer

She was found in her bed by neighbors Oct. 4, 1970. There were three stab wounds. Ethel Elizabeth Euell, 25, of 2706 W. Third St., had been murdered.

In the 19 months since, Robert Keen has not solved the murder.

But that's the only current blemish on the Dayton police detective's record. The ex-Marine prefers solving homicides, and of the 30 cases he has been assigned, he has cleared 29.

The 34-year-old Keen, a veteran of 14 years on the city police department, has not quit on the Euell case.

"HE'S WORKING on that one (number 30) now and I've got confidence he'll solve it, too," said Sgt. Gene Melson, who heads the homicide squad.

Melson thinks so much of Keen's first-year performance as a detective that he's recommended him to Chief Robert M. Igleburger for a certificate of merit.

Keen mostly thinks about number 30.

"I'd like to solve that unsolved one. It's never out of my mind," he said.

Keen learned that Miss Euell had called police earlier on Oct. 4, 1970, to report that burglars stole a television from her house.

A MURDER that accompanies another crime is usually more difficult to solve. That's because it's less likely the victim and the murderer know each other.

Keen won't say whether his investigation has found a link between the burglary and the killing.

"All I can say is that I follow every lead that comes in," said Keen. If this sounds methodical, Keen won't argue. "I hope that's the way I work."

This was the way Keen had to work Mar. 2 when the body of Edward Lee Aldridge, 22, was found on the Miami river levee at the rear of Stanley Ave.

Aldridge, a Vietnam veteran, had been shot in the head at close range with a shotgun. There was little to go on and Keen said it was one of the toughest cases he has had.

"IT WAS VERY confusing. There was more than one incident involved in the shooting and witnesses were difficult to locate," Keen remembered.

Working methodically, Keen and other detectives traced Aldridge's movements on the day of the slaying and talked to as many people as they could in connection with the crime.

Within eight days, a member of a Dayton motorcycle gang was arrested.

Keen admits methodology and patience aren't enough. He agrees with Sgt. Melson, the homicide squad supervisor, that "police savvy and a bit of luck are also essential."

Good luck played an important role for Keen in solving the murder of Sylvester Leingang, killed with a shotgun during a robbery attempt in his cellar.

"WE WERE completely stumped," Keen said of the April 1971 killing.

Then an unexpected source came up with the information police had been looking for. "It was really lucky. The person was honest enough to help out, and it broke the case," Keen related.

Right now, Keen and other members of the homicide need all the luck they can get. The city had a record 89 homicides in 1971, and 20 more were reported for the first quarter of this year.

There are other frustrations for Keen besides the upswing in the homicide rate.

HOMICIDE, TO KEEN, is "the ultimate crime." Put another way, this means solving a homicide can't give anybody quite the same satisfaction as recovering a stolen car or exposing a con man. In Keen's business, the victims can't be recovered.

"I get very frustrated sometimes because I just don't quite get enough satisfaction from the victim's family. I can understand their frustrations and get the feeling like 'did I do enough?' Yet, I know I've done all I can," Keen said.

The people Keen arrests are even less appreciative. After one man was recently found guilty, he jumped up and said Keen promised to see him burn.

"I felt like jumping up and denying it but I didn't. This is a guy who's been sent up for life and he might be a little upset," Keen reasoned.

DESPITE THE frustrations, it's unlikely Keen will switch jobs. He prefers the challenge.

One of 11 children he worked his way through several jobs and the Marine Corps before becoming a policeman. Now he has a family of his own—a wife and five children.

Keen said his wife Beverly "worries to death" but understands what makes her husband go. "I am so proud to be a policeman I don't want to bring any disgrace to the Dayton department," Keen said.

Detective Shot; Condition Good

By RON ROAT, Daily News Staff Writer

Dayton police Det. Robert R. (Robby) Keen was in good condition today at Miami Valley hospital where he is recovering from a gunshot wound to the abdomen in a shootout with two robbers Monday night.

The 14-year veteran of the department was shot about 10:45 p.m. when he tried to apprehend two robbers at Lawson's Dairy store, 864 Valley St., according to Lt. Richard Schulte, chief of the detective section.

Keen, 35, was on a one man stakeout at the store, which has been robbed several times recently.

SCHULTE said he would not be able to comment on why Keene was alone until he had conferred with Keen and his commander, Maj. Kenneth L. Williams.

Williams, along with the entire command staff of the department except Schulte, was at a staff meeting in the Criminal Justice center. They were not available for comment.

It is possible that Keen could face disciplinary action because former Capt. E. Russell Guerra once was reprimanded when he attempted to apprehend an armed suspect alone.

Schulte said Keen was in a stakeout in the back room of the store when the robbery began. Keen summoned police help, left through a side door and went out to the front of the store to stop the robbers.

WHEN KEEN reached the front, gunfire was exchanged and it is believed one of the robbers was shot, Schulte said. Additional details about the number of shots fired or what happened at the shooting were not available.

Keen, youngest member of Dayton's four-man homicide squad, managed to get back into the store before he collapsed.

It is not known whether the suspects fled on foot or in a car, but police were searching for a stolen car possibly involved in the robbery.

Crews from the 4 p.m. to midnight shift were held over for the search, in addition to more than 10 detectives, who worked until almost 5 a.m. today.

Detective Shot In Store Stakeout

By RON ROAT, Daily News Staff Writer 12-19-72

Police Det. Robert R. (Bobby) Keen, shot in the stomach Monday night while on stakeout duty at a frequently robbed store, is in good condition today at Miami Valley hospital.

Keen was listed in good condition this morning recovering from a gunshot wound to the abdomen.

KEEN, a 14-year veteran of the police department, was shot about 10:45 p.m. Monday when he tried to apprehend two robbers at Lawson's Dairy store, 864 Valley St., according to Lt. Richard Schulte, chief of the detective section.

Police chaplain Ed Jackson, who talked with Keen's surgeon earlier today, said the bullet did not seriously strike any vital organs and that Keen would be "sore for a while" and would be fine soon.

The bullet did hit the bladder and bowel, the chaplain said.

Schulte said Keen was on a stakeout at the store, which has been robbed several times recently. When he saw the robbery in progress, Keen summoned police assistance from a backroom telephone.

HE THEN left the building from a side door and went to the front to confront the robbers, Shulte said. Gunfire was exchanged, and it is believed that one of the robbers was shot Shulte said.

Keen managed to get back into the building before collapsing, said Schulte, who has been conducting an investigation since the incident.

It is not known whether the suspects fled on foot or in a car, but police were searching for a stolen car possibly involved in the robbery.

Crews from the 4 p.m. to midnight shift were held over for the search, in addition to more than 10 detectives, who worked until almost 5 a.m. today.

POLICE have a basic description of the two men involved. The first is a black male in his late 20s, 5 foot 8 inches and about 170 pounds, wearing a dark leather jacket and dark tan trousers.

The second man was described as black about 20 years old, 5 foot 3 inches and about 150 pounds, wearing a black leather jacket with black trousers.

ROBERT R. KEEN
In Good Condition

An undetermined amount of money was taken in the robbery, police said.

Keen, 35, is the youngest detective on the four-man homicide squad. Last May he received a letter of commendation from Police Chief Robert M. Igleberger for his excellent clearance rate of homicide cases. He had solved 29 of 30 assigned cases.

POLICE WORK brought Keen into a brush with death at least once before.

Keen was nearly shot in the head two years ago by an 80-year-old man who fired on him and another officer when they answered a disturbance call Jan. 4, 1971.

"I just feel lucky to be alive," Keen told friends later.

That encounter began when the octogenarian and a woman argued over a $10 loan the woman refused to repay. The man brandished a gun and threatened to shoot her.

When Keen and the other officer arrived, the man fired at Keen, narrowly missing his head. In return fire, the man was wounded in the legs and stomach.

STORE ROBBERY

15 Minutes Cost Officer

By RON ROAT, Daily News Staff Writer

Only 15 minutes more Monday night and Dayton Police Det. Robert R. Keen would have been safely on his way home instead of lying on a milk store floor with a bullet hole in his stomach.

Keen had watched over the store since 6 p.m., substituting in off-duty hours as a store security guard.

He was scheduled to go home at 11 o'clock. But two robbers walked into the Lawson's Dairy Store, 884 Valley St., 15 minutes before he was to leave.

According to one of the two women employes working at the store that night, the shooter of the two robbers did most of the talking. The woman declined to have her name used.

"THEY CAME up to the counter," she said. "The tall one was shivering quite badly, so I said, 'It must be getting colder out,' although I didn't think it was that cold out yet, and he said, 'I guess so.'"

The short man, about five-foot-three, asked for fruit punch and the employe turned around to open the refrigerated storage area.

"That's when the short one pulled his blue hat down over his face and said, 'This is a robbery,'" she said.

SHE STARTED to get the money out of the cash register while another employe got a paper bag.

"He reached over the counter and took some money," she said. "He asked where the rest of it was and I said in the safe."

It was about this time the tall man, who was looking out the front window, said he heard something.

"I DON'T KNOW what he heard," she said. "Maybe he saw someone coming to the store or something. I didn't hear what he heard."

Keen, who was filling in for another detective who usually watched over the store, was watching from the back room. During the robbery, he was contacting Dayton police for assistance.

The woman said she heard nothing from the back room.

THE TWO robbers, carrying an undetermined amount of money, went to the front of the store and left. Keen had left the back room through a side door and had gone around the building to confront the robbers out front.

Details of what happened in front of the building have not been released by police, and the woman employe could not see what happened.

Although the store has two large windows, they were covered with sale posters. She said she remembers hearing at least two shots although she has been told since there were more.

(HER CAR, parked in front of the store, was hit twice — in the right rear door and near the radio antenna on the right front.)

"Then officer Keen came back in," she said. "He told us to call the police. The other girl here went into hysterics."

Keen then collapsed on the floor.

The robbers fled. Police are looking for a stolen car possibly involved in the robbery.

"THE police got here fast," she said. "There were a lot of them and they were all over asking questions and searching the neighborhood."

The woman said she has wanted to visit Keen in the hospital, but has been told visiting is limited.

"I wanted to thank him and tell him how badly I feel about it," she said.

Keen, 35, was shot once in the abdomen.

Keen is in fair condition at Miami Valley hospital's intensive-care unit.

Police ask help to find car believed used in robbery

Dayton police yesterday asked for citizen help in locating a stolen car which they believe may have been involved in an armed robbery of a Valley Street dairy store in which a detective was shot.

The car was stolen from in front of 47 Notre Dame Avenue just prior to the robbery of the Lawson Milk Store at 864 Valley St. last Dec. 18, according to Lt. Richard J. Schulte, head of the detective section. Detective Robert R. Keen was shot while attempting to arrest the robbers.

Schulte described the car as a brown 1966 Ford Galaxy convertible with a black top. Ohio license plate number 7212 NP with a serial number of 8G65X 139572.

Anyone seeing, or knowing the location, of a car fitting that description is asked to contact Schulte, Sgt. S. F. Burneka or Sgt. E. H. Melson at the police department.

There is a chance the car may bear a different license plate now, police said.

"At first, we didn't connect the stolen car with the robbery," said Schulte. "But since it still hasn't turned up we are becoming suspicious it may have been involved in the incident."

Keen, who was off duty, was working as a store security guard when he was shot in the stomach while trying to apprehend two suspects outside the store, police said.

Keen is in good condition at Miami Valley Hospital. He may get to go home this weekend, but will not be able to return to work for several weeks, police said.

WOUNDED DETECTIVE UP AND AROUND — DAYTON DAILY NEWS — DDN DECEMBER 28, 1972

Bandit's 1st Shot Probably Did Damage

By RON ROAT, Daily News Staff Writer

"I didn't feel it. I didn't know I was shot. I ducked behind the car immediately and fired back," said Dayton Police Det. Robert R. Keen.

Keen, 35, propped up in bed at Miami Valley hospital, described the Dec. 18 shooting incident that left him seriously wounded.

"It must have been the first shot that hit me," he said. "It just must have been, because I ducked behind the car there after the first shot. Only my head was exposed."

THE FATHER OF FIVE was shot after a holdup at the Lawson Dairy store at 864 Valley St. He was working in his off hours there as a security guard.

He was shot once in the lower abdomen when he confronted two robbers just outside the store. The bullet hit his bowel and his bladder and passed through his body.

Keen, substituting on a five-hour guard stint for another detective, was sitting in a back room where he could see the service counter through the glass doors of the store's cooler.

FIFTEEN MINUTES BEFORE he was to go home, two men walked into the store.

"The short one pulled a seaman's cap down over his eyes and stuck a gun in the girl's face," Keen said. "I could see all this, but I couldn't hear what was happening because of all the machines running back there.

DET. ROBERT R. KEEN
Shot in Lower Abdomen

"The officer kept saying, 'K e e n, lay d o w n.' But I was a f r a i d to. I was afraid if I d i d I would never get up. I was getting scared because I could now see the blood dripping from my pants leg."

"I called the dispatcher with the radio and told them about the robbery," he said. "Then I put the radio down, went out through the side door and went out front. I didn't want a shootout inside because of the girls."

WHEN HE REACHED the front of the building the bandits were still in the store.

"I peeked through the window and saw them turn and head for the door," Keen said. "When they got outside they were in a hurry. I said, 'I'm a police officer. Stop.'

"That's when the one turned and shot at me."

Keen fired back.

Police originally believed one of Keen's bullets hit one of the robbers because Keen saw him fall.

"I THINK MY second and third shots hit him," he said. "He fell down each time. But he got up and ran away in a hurry. I've never seen anyone run like that. He ran like a rabbit."

Both holdup men ran to the street and disappeared into the darkness.

"I went back inside," Keen said. "One of the women asked if I was hurt. I said, 'I don't know,' and I didn't know. All I knew was that I was in pain."

KEEN ASKED the clerks to call police. He couldn't because he left his radio in the back room.

"They were there fast," Keen said. "I was never so glad to see someone. I don't even know who the officer was, but he was a great help."

Keen gave the uniformed officer a description of the two men. He remained standing throughout the discussion.

"The officer kept saying, 'Keen, lay down,' but I was afraid to," Keen said. "I was afraid if I did I would never get up. I was getting scared because I could now see the blood dripping from my pants leg."

KEEN WAS SOON taken to the hospital.

"All the way there I thought I'd cashed in my chips. I was really scared. I was scared until the surgeon told me I was going to be all right."

He remained conscious until he was placed under sedation for surgery. When he woke up late the following morning, he was greeted by several detectives.

"I could talk then," he said. "But I wasn't very coherent."

Since then he has been reading stacks of mail and chatting with numerous visitors.

POLICE, WHO ARE normally reluctant to release details of a shooting, have not even released some of the details to Keen. He has been told to relax and "take it easy."

Keen is now able to walk around the hospital and sit and chat with visitors, but it is painful for him to stand or sit. His wounds are still stiff. He expects to return to work in six to eight weeks.

"I've gotten a lot of mail and a lot of it is from John Q. Public," he said. "Just people wishing me well and hoping I'm OK."

HE ALSO RECEIVED a letter from the mother of a man he sent to prison for life. Another phone call came from the mother of a homicide victim who asked him if he needed any [illegible]

Disciplining Ruled Out For Wounded Detective

Robert R. Keen the Dayton detective shot Monday night while trying to apprehend two robbers, was off duty filling in for another d e t e c t i v e who worked at the Lawson's Dairy store as a security officer.

Keen, 35, attached to the homicide squad, was shot in the abdomen and is reported in fair c o n d i t i o n today at Miami Valley hospital.

A HOSPITAL spokesman said Keen was in good condition following surgery and his condition has been reported fair and stable since then.

Chief Robert M Igleburger said many D a y t o n officers "m o o n l i g h t" as security agents for L a w s o n 's Dairy stores.

Igleburger and Lt Richard Schulte, chief of the detective section, emphasized that Keen will face no disciplinary action for the incident.

The statements were made in reaction to reports in Tuesday's Daily News which indicated that former Capt. E. Russell Guerre was once reprimanded for going after an armed suspect alone.

IGLEBURGER said Guerre was n e v e r disciplined, although there was public pressure to do so, and Keen will not be disciplined.

"I have no reason to believe anything he (Keen) did was wrong," I g l e b u r g e r said. "There will be no disciplinary action whatsoever. He d i d what he had to do as a police officer."

Igleburger noted that Keen correctly chose to confront the two robbers outside the store at 864 Valley St. and not inside where employes could have been hurt.

Igleburger said police believe they have found the bullet that hit Keen. Officers are still searching for a car believed used in the robbery and shooting.

Keen has said one of the robbers fired first. Police will not say how many shots were exchanged.

Schulte said police have two men in custody, but they are being questioned "concerning robberies only."

SCHULTE SAID police are examining blood stains found at the crime to determine if two blood types are evident, which would indicate one of the robbers was shot.

Detective shot; two men flee

A Dayton police detective was still in surgery early this morning after being shot last night when he attempted to stop two men suspected of robbing a Lawson's Milk store at 864 Valley St., police said.

Detective Robert Keen, 35, was part of a stake-out team which had been assigned to watch the store because it had been t h e frequent target of armed robbers recently, according to police.

Keen had confronted the two men outside the store at 10:45 p.m. when one of them shot him once in the lower abdomen, police said.

A MANHUNT was launched and police attempted to seal off the area, but it appeared early this morning that the suspects—one of whom was believed shot—had been able to elude them. Crews on the 4 p.m. to midnight shift were asked to work about an hour past the end of their tour before they were relieved.

However, a police source said that many of those getting off were volunteering to work on their own as the search for the suspects continued.

POLICE continued to comb the northern Dayton area for the suspects early this morning.

Hospital sources would only say that Keen's vital signs were stable and that doctors on the operating team were showing guarded optimism concerning chances of Keen's recovery.

One officer said the store had been "hit about three times in the past week or so" and Keen had taken a stakeout in case another attempt was made.

Det. Keen Leaves Hospital

Dayton Det. Robert R. Keen, who was shot Dec. 18 while trying to break up a robbery, was released this m o r n i n g from Miami Valley hospital.

Keen, 35, is e x p e c t e d to spend six to eight weeks at h o m e recovering from his stomach wound.

KEEN SAID e a r l i e r this week he does not intend to "waste" his time at home. He plans to have someone pick up his case load paperwork at the department and take it to him where he can finish up the details.

"I don't want to have to face all that when I get back," he said.

OBITUARIES

OBITUARY
MAINE MARCH 24, 1841

In Poland, February 15, Mr. Seth Keen of Oxford, in the 54th year of his age. The circumstances attending bro. Keen's death were very solemn and affecting. While he was engaged in the woods, in the company with his son, in loading logs, one of the chains gave way, and a log fell on his head, which bruised it in a most shocking manner. Medical aid was immediately procured, but to no effect; he lingered in great agony during six days when death freed him from all his sufferings. The subject of this notice experienced religion many years since, and united with the F.W. Baptist church in Poland, of which he remained a faithful and devoted member, till he was called (as we doubt not) to join the church in that happy world where death can never enter. His voice was frequently heard in the congregation, and his fervent prayers and exhortations will not soon be forgotten. In this dark and mysterious dispensation of Providence, the wisdom of whose ways are beyond human comprehension, an affectionate wife has been called to part with a kind husband and ten children with a tender and provident father.
At his funeral, a discourse was delivered by the writer to a large and attentive congregation, from Matt. 24:44, after which, his mortal remains were followed to the silent tomb, by a numerous train of weeping relatives. But the prayer of the writer is, that they may learn to trust the Lord where they cannot trace him and, indeed, Be also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the son of man cometh.

JAMES LIBBY.

This obituary was found in the micro film library at Bates College in Lewiston, Maine. I received a copy with several obituaries on the page and it appears that the Pastor of a church (or a deacon) delivered a eulogy in the newpaper during those times. JAMES LIBBY gave another eulogy (obituary) just below this one on Seth Keen and again mentioned the F.W. (Free Will) Baptist church.

Funeral procession

This subject is not about politics. Some people may not even think this is such a big deal, but my family does.

On Saturday, Sept. 19 my sister's funeral procession from Sacred Heart Church in North Quincy heading toward West Roxbury to the cemetery was shown no respect at all, (respect—a word a lot of us in this society have never seen or heard used in their life.)

While proceeding through West Squantum Street and Hancock Street, many people not paying any attention to the lights on the vehicles started to beep and cut into the line of cars. It also happened at Adams Street in Dorchester Lower Mills. May I add, swearing the whole time.

Well I want to say thanks a bunch for being responsible for half of the friends and relatives to be separated from the procession and never getting to the cemetery. Many of these people traveled from other states to be with us, and never got to say a final goodbye.

I know this has probably happened to other people. You should know how much more pain you who are responsible have caused.
